Collins Townhouses For Palmer Square Approved by Board

With one member voting against approval, the Planning Board approved Collins Development's plan to build 97 new townhouse units between Paul Robeson Place and Hulfish North. The second of two hearings on the proposal took place February 6.

The 97 residential units are part of 114 units that were approved under a different plan in 1987. Seventeen units are already being built as part of the office and retail buildings fronting on Hulfish North. The 97 new units will be constructed above and around the two partly underground garages to the rear of these buildings. These garages are largely completed.

The vote for preliminary and final approval of a modification of the earlier plan for 114 smaller units came with a long list of conditions and issues. There are landscaping and lighting conditions and issues that will be referred to the Planning Board's landscape subcommittee headed by Richard Henkel. There are

Flasher Shows Up At Hodge/Library

The Princeton Flasher hit a new area in town last week, making his eighth appearance over the last four months.

The now familiar curly-headed suspect flashed a 33-year-old Borough resident early Friday afternoon at the intersection of Library Place and Hodge Road. The victim did not report the incident to police until the following day.

According to Capt. Thomas Michaud, the victim was walking on the Hodge Road sidewalk around 1:40 in the afternoon and, as she approached the intersection of Library Place, she saw a man standing on the corner. He appeared to be waiting for someone, she told police later.

When the suspect started to walk ahead of her in the same direction, she began to feel suspicious about the situation, Capt. Michaud continued.. She started to cross the street. As she did so, the suspect turned around.

1990 Tax Rate in Borough May Increase By 20 Cents per $100, Council Is Told

A stunned Borough Council heard last week that the 1990 Borough tax rate could go up as much as 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Council members listened as Borough Administrator Mark Gordon painted a grim picture of the state of municipal finances. "There are large increases in both mandated costs and in costs we have very little control over," he said.

Among these skyrocketing costs are those for general and health insurance for Borough employees, up $212,000 from last year; interest on notes, up $164,000; garbage collection, up $131,000; and the pension retirement system for public employees, up $60,000.

On the revenue side, Mr. Gordon said court fines are down $150,000 and that an additional $42,000 in State revenues will be lost this year. This is on top of the $280,000 in State revenues lost last year.

After Mr. Gordon completed his presentation, Council President Marvin Reed began the discussion by asking his colleagues on Council, "Before we go further, does anybody want to resign?"

Last year at this time, Council faced a possible increase in the municipal tax rate of nine cents. By the time the budget was adopted, the actual increase had been whittled to six cents.

Additional ratables does not seem the way to go in this town with almost no available land. The $6 million in ratables added in the Borough last year tally up to only $40,000 in tax revenues.

Council seemed to agree that any major reductions must come from the Borough and joint operating budgets, rather than from the capital budget. It was pointed out that, for each million dollars removed from the capital budget, only $50,000 is saved the first year.

Municipal Government Members Face Difficult Budget Decisions

Only the least complicated, least controversial and smallest of the joint agency budgets were approved last Saturday during a marathon joint session of Borough Council and Township Committee to review these budgets.

Interested residents will want to come to conference room B in the Valley Road building this Saturday morning at 9 to find out whether the Library will be cut back nearly $62,000 from what it asked for in order to restore most of last year's cuts in service. Or whether Corner House will be given the funds to increase the number of staff hours and hire a psychologist for a more professional team approach to its increased service load.

Will the Planning Board be allocated $750,000 toward the purchase of Tusculum acreage for a park? Will the Environmental Commission be given the green light to undertake an aerial survey to count the number of deer in Princeton? Such a survey has to be undertaken when there are no leaves on the trees and snow on the ground, but given the prospect of having to raise taxes substantially this year in both Borough and Township, Council and Committee members did not seem particularly receptive to this item.

The Health Commission is short two sanitary inspectors, and yet both Borough and Township are stepping up rent registration efforts and inspections in order to avoid disasters such as the potentially fatal carbon monoxide poisoning of residents in a dwelling on Witherspoon Street earlier in the year.

From interviews conducted to fill the posts of sanitary inspectors, the Health Commission finds that the salaries being offered are not competitive. The Borough attorney

Bond Issue Approved

Voters on Tuesday approved the $8.45 million Princeton Regional school bond. Further details were unavailable before Town Topics' deadline.

The money will be used to add 12 classrooms and other facilities to Johnson Park School, upgrade fields at Littlebrook and Johnson Park schools, repair the high school roof, deal with asbestos abatement, and make other capital improvements.

FEBRUARY HAS BEEN A FICKLE MONTH: February's weather so far has produced the kind of yo-yo temperatures usually found in March. Last Thursday was so pleasant it was easy to catch 40 winks on the lawn next to Thomas Sweet, like the young woman above. Monday morning brought snow (left) that disappeared under sunny skies by noon. More of the same is ahead, with warm weather Wednesday giving way to a chilly rain on Thursday.

Agency Budgets

has ruled that the Health Commission has the right to set individual salaries within the Department, but will the allocation from Borough and Township be enough to cover other expenses and raise salaries to a competitive level?

Both municipalities are facing substantial raises in their tax rates for 1990. The Borough is projecting a 20-cent increase (see related story). The Township is avoiding making definite statements this early in the budget preparation process, hut one scenario projected a 12 cent increase.

Both municipalities are facing major increases in health insurance costs — estimated at 34 percent in the Borough hut also said to be substantial in the Tnwnship — as well as pension costs. Both are feeling the effects of rising debt service to pay for past bond issues for capital needs. And both know that there are multi-million dollar capital needs looming in the near future.

Marvin Reed outlined the problems the Borough faces at the outset of last Saturday's meeting, thus establishing the probability that the Borough would not go along with some of the requests that might be sanctioned by the Township. He took issue with the Township's decision to grant a six percent across-the-hoard salary increase to all municipal employees in advance of deliberations on other budget items and asked that the Township reconsider this decision, with an eye to lowering the increase to five percent.

Policy Pay Unequol

On Monday night, during a Township work session on the budget, Township Administrator James J. Pascale told Committee that the dollar difference between a six percent and a five percent salary adjustment would be $4,905 for the joint agencies for which the Township is the hanker, and $1,615 for Borough-banked agencies. Mr. Pascale pointed out that traditionally the two municipalities have honored each other's personnel packages, with each municipality funding the appropriate percentage for salary adjustments.

"Their salaries are sometimes higher than ours, and ours sometimes go above theirs," he said. In fact, Township Police Chief Jack Petrone came to the Township budget work session to complain that Borough police salaries are higher than Township police salaries at all levels, starting with dispatcher and going up to licutenant and chief.

Chief Petrone was told that the Township's proposed 1990 market adjustment, a distribution of $25,000 to employees whose salaries were found to be non-competitive, would hring the two rates closer together. It was also pointed out that the Borough has a merit raise program for municipal employees and bonuses of between two and four percent for police officers who work night shifts.

At the joint session last Saturday, the Corner House budget and the Library budget came in for more discussion than other joint agency budgets. Corner House is seeking a net increase of 37 percent in its budget. Adding the equivalent in staff time of 2.5 days and adding a part-time psychologist as a new positinn would raise overall Corner House salaries from $47,363 in 1989 to $63,275 in t990. The operations and expenditures account is also expected to increase by a similar amount if approved by the two governing hodies.

Budget Reflects Success

Linda Meisel, Corner House director, reported that the budget reflects the agency's success in reaching more people who need help. A policy issue that surfaced had to do with whether the Township or Corner House should pay for legal costs. Last year, for instance, there was a difficult custody issue that required some extra help from the Township attorney.

If legal costs estimated at $2,500 for 1990 are a line item in the joint budget, the Borough would pay for a portion of these, a point Mr. Reed was quick to notice. Township Com-

OVERFLOW CROWD HEARS TOURE SPEECH: Black activist Kwame Toure, formerly Stokely Carmichael, spoke to an overflow crowd at the University last Wednesday. Sponsored by the Organization of Black Unity, Toure's speech urged blacks to unite against capitalism and Zionism, and to form a socialist African continent. His views were challenged by many Jewish students in the audience in a contentious question-and-answer period that followed the 70-minute speech. (Bobby Chang photo, The Daily Princetonian)

Planning Board Review Of Proposed Additions

The Planning Board will review two concept plans at its work session on Thursday.

One is for an addition to Stuart Country Day School, scheduled on the agenda for 7:40 to 8:40 p.m. The other is for a new and bigger wing to replace a section of Princeton Medical Center that dates back to the 1920s. That plan is to be reviewed between 8:40 and 9:40. The board meets in the meeting room of the Valley Road building, through the Witherspoon Street entrance.

Stuart plans to add two wings to its existing building. One would house a performing arts center, the other a multipurpose gymnasium. The plans also include a relocated and enlarged playing field and a future parking area. A conditional use approval will be required, because the school is located in a residential zone.

By coincidence — or design — the board also plans to consider a proposed ordinance creating a new education zone for Stuart Country Day School, Princeton Day School and the Hun School on Thursday night, after the concept reviews. The ordinance would make school use the "as of right" use within the zone, and would mean that a school would not have to apply for conditional use authorization to expand its facility. The ordinance would also regulate the amount of building that could take place within the zone.

Princeton Medical Center plans to demolish the three-story "B" wing off Franklin Avenue and replace it with a five-story structure. The new building would have an additional 78,360 square feet of floor space and will need 178 additional parking spaces. However, Princeton Medical Group's move from the Medical Arts Building on the hospital campus to a new facility at Harrison Street and Terhune Road is expected to free up some 300 spaces used by doctors and patients.

Last year the Medical Center applied to the State for permission to add 45 beds to the hospital unit, bringing the total number of beds in that unit to 293. The Certificate of Need, as the application is called, was approved by the State Department of Health, but according to Jane Kerney, hospital spokeswoman, the net gain in the number of beds may be 42 rather than 45.

Addition to Hospital

Construction is under way at the hospital on a two-story addition to the J-wing, which will add no new beds but is necessary to have in place before the B-wing demolition can take place. Construction was originally expected to begin last spring, but was delayed due to problems in obtaining sewer treatment capacity from the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority and connection permission from the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection.

The hospital was granted a "dry" connecting permit, pending a re-rating of the SBRSA treatment plant to a bigger capacity. But construction is proceeding nonetheless, and according to Mrs. Kerney, is expected to be completed in the spring of 1991, a year later than originally planned. By that time the plant may be re-rated from its current 10 million gallons per day to 11-plus.

In addition to discussion of the proposed E-4 ordinance, the Planning Board has also scheduled a discussion of the proposed waterway (stream) corridor protection ordinance in the time slot from 9:40 to 11 p.m. The ordinance sets buffers of varying widths for all waterways of any size in the community and would not only limit construction within the buffer but also restrict certain activities, such as clearing of vegetation. The purpose is to protect the stream from sedimentation and pollution and its protective corridor from erosion, flooding and other environmental damage.

When it was discussed in public meeting last year, the measure elicited strong objections from property owners and was sent "back to the drawing boards" for refinement.

Office Window Broken By Frightened Deer

A deer jumped through the window of an nrchitect's office on Witherspoon Street Sunday afternoon.

Police said the deer jumped through a four by four foot office window at 337 Witherspoon Street which is located next door to Conte's Bar and Pizzeria. The deer exited the same way and then jumped a fence of a parking area next to the Valley Road School building. Police, called to the scene at 3:45, were ahle to corral the injured deer, who had to be destroyed.

Abduction at Gunpoint Stranded Woman Claims

A 28-year-old New Hnpe, Pa. resident told Township police last week that she hnd been abducted at gunpoint in Trenton.

According to Lt. Anthony Gaylord, the victim told Township police this story. She had been abducted on East State Street early Snturday morning by a Hispanic male in his early 20s whn had approached her, pulled a gun and forced her intn his car.

They then drove toward Princeton. While on Quaker Road he allegedly pushed her out of the car. The stranded victim said she wandered ahout until she found a house on Quaker Road where the occupant called police at 1:42 a.m. Township police found her on the porch and took her to headquarters.

Police here turned the information over to Trentnn Police. Their search for the suspect's light hlue, two-door car failed to uncover any suspect. Township police, Lt. Gaylord said, then met with Trenton police memhers who took the alleged victim back to Trenton

Parked Cars Ripped Off By Thieves About Town

Parked cnrs were the targets of thieves and vandals this month in Princeton.

In the Borough, someone pried npen the moon roof of a 1987 Ford while it was parked overnight in the Tulane West lot. The owner, a resident of Lns Angeles, lost a $350 gold bracelet, ski jacket, 20 cassette tapes and $10 cash. Total value: $680.

While a 1985 sednn was parked in a privatc lot at the rear of a Dickinson Street apartment house, someone cntered the unlocked car and removed n stereo equalizer worth $100 that was mounted on the dashboard.

A Princeton University student lost n $250 radar detector after his car was broken into while it was parked in the lot near the Princeton University store Police report the car's driver's side window was broken overnight during the weekend to enter the car.

At about the same time, the 1988 Chrysler of a Borough resident was entered while it was parked on Pine Street. A right rear vent window was smashed but nothing was taken from the interior. Police add that a hole was also cut in the car's left side vinyl roof covering.

There was more of the same in the Township. Twn cars were vandalized while parked Saturday in the Westminster Choir College lot. A rear door window of a 1987 Toyota owned by a Kendall Park resident was smashed, and a rear vent window of a 1989 Toyota was broken between 5:45 and 11 p.m. It is owned by a Pennsylvania resident. In hoth instances, police said, nothing inside was disturbed or taken.

Another Toyota, a 1986 Camry, was tampered with while it was parked earlier this month on Hickory Court. Police report damage to a lock and fender in an attempt to enter the car but no entry was gained.

The Township owner of a 1985 Peugeot, parked in the Princeton Shopping Center lot, flagged down Ptl. Robert Nielsen to report that the car's right rear window had been broken. Nothing appears to have been taken from the car which was parked Saturday night in the lot from 7 to 10:40.

On Friday afternoon, a Hopewell resident visited the recycling shed located in a corner of the Princeton Shopping Center to deposit some magazines. She told police she was away from her car no longer than 15 seconds when someone apparently reached in and removed her wallet containing $160 from her pocketbook. Police re-

Change in Filing Date

Gov. Jim Florio has confirmed that the February 8 filing deadline for candidacy in the 1990 annual school board election should be ignored.

In a letter to the State Department of Education, the Governor said he anticipates signing legislation that would postpone the date of the election to Tuesday, April 24.

The new deadline for filing school board candidacy at Princeton Regional and all other school districts in the State is Thursday, March 1.

The date change is a result of Governor Florio's desire to postpone the delivery of his annual budget message to the Legislature to March 15. Since State aid to education figures are officially announced in the budget message, it is necessary to delay the election process to give districts more time to prepare their proposed school budgets.

port that the victim had been to two other locations prior to visiting the shed but believes that is where the theft occurred.

In a non-car theft, a steel box containing approximately $500 worth of plumbing tools was stolen from a Collins Development construction site on Palmer Square North. The tools are owned by the U.S. Air & Mechanical Corp. located in Farmingdale.

Driver, 18, Is Charged With Drunken Driving

An 18-year-old Princeton resident has been charged by Township police with driving while intoxicated and failure to dim his headlights.

The driver, Noah A. Falk, 168 Prospect Avenue, was later released to the custody of his father. He is scheduled to appear in Township court this Wednesday.

According to the police report, Ptl. John J. Buszko was driving on Alexander Street at 1:45 Sunday morning when he saw a car with its high beams on traveling in the opposite direction. When the officer flashed his lights, the driver turned his off and continued on. Ptl. Buszko made a U-turn and stopped the car.

In requesting to see the operator's driving credentials, Ptl. Buszko allegedly detected an odor of alcohol. Following balance and co-ordination tests at the scene, Ptl. Buszko placed Mr. Falk under arrest and transported him to headquarters where he was given a series of tests and a Breathalyzer test.

Ten Drivers Are Fined In Township Court

Ten Princeton area drivers were fined last week in Township court, six for speeding.

Fined $60 each are Alan G. Frank Jr., 8 Lafayette Road; Colette Coobaugh, 3 Wenczer Drive, Lawrenceville; Hans K. Sander, 50 Lafayette Road; Mary F. Bonotto, 48 Clover Lane, and Nancy J. Witt, 42A Carter Road. Ms. Witt also paid $20 each on three more violations: unregistered vehicle, no license or registration in possession and improper display of plates. Antonio Sorrell Jr., 4913 Hunters Glenn, Plainsboro, was fined $70 for speeding.

Fined $75 each for careless driving are Brien A. Evans, 40 Stanworth Lane, and Bernadette N. Gordon, 8 Theresa Drive, Lawrenceville.

Joseph K. Wright, 105 Washington Road, was fined $515 and lost his license for 60 days for driving while on a revoked list, while having no insurance cost William J. Hubbard, 181C Spruce Circle, $315 and the loss of his license for one year.

In Borough criminal court Monday, Anthony Boone, 116 Leigh Avenue, was fined $500, $50 lab fee, $30 to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board, $50 fine and $25 contempt of court and had his license revoked for six months for being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance and in possession of drug paraphernalia.

Lisa A. Arnott, 21 Lytle Street, was fined $125 and $30 VCCB for theft, and Eileen Debra Marin of Rocky Hill was fined $125, $30 VCCB and placed on probation with the Borough court for one year for violation of a restraining order.

In Borough traffic court, Shawn Hyter, 13 Quarry Street, was fined $785 and had his license revoked for 90 days for driving while his license was suspended. He paid an additional $20 for failure to display inspection sticker.

Board Race in Township

It appears there will be a contest among Township voters for a seat on the Princeton Regional School Board. In the Borough, however, incumbent and Board President Corinne Kyle is the only person to declare her candidacy.

Gerald Groves, State Road, has filed in the Township. Also running for the two seats in the Township are incumbents Patty Soffronoff and Susan Tarr.

There remains, however, an opportunity for further petitions to be filed. The deadline of February 8 has been extended to March 1 because the School Board election was moved forward three weeks, to April 24.

John Leahy, 25 Nelson Ridge Road, paid $70 for speeding, and Albert Lee, 411 Butler Street, paid $60 for disregarding a traffic signal. Having no insurance card in possession cost Dylan Richel, RD4, Princeton, and Doerler Landscapes, Inc., 2281 Brunswick Pike, Lawrenceville, $20 each.

Others: Margaret J. Montgomery, 6 Harris Road, $75, careless driving; David Pillar, 302 Emmons Drive, $75, failure to set brakes, and Thomas Hui, 2121 Kaitlyn Court, Lawrenceville, $60, speeding.

Turnpike Toll Increase

The New Jersey Turnpike Authority seeks to increase tolls on the New Jersey Turnpike. A public hearing on two alternative proposals to raise Turnpike tolls will be held this Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel, Route 18, East Brunswick.

One alternative is a one-step toll increase not to exceed 75 percent for passenger cars and 125 percent for trucks and buses, to take effect, if adopted, on or about June 1, 1990.

A multiple-step toll increase not to exceed 135 percent, on a compound basis, for all classes of vehicles is also proposed This would be implemented, if adopted, through a 40 percent increase to be effective on June 1, 1990, a 40 percent increase to be effective on or about January 1, 1992, and a 20 percent increase to be implemented on or about January 1, 1994.

Information about the proposed increases is contained in a report called "Toll Sensitivity and Revenue Projection Study" prepared by Wilhur Smith Associates, the Authority's traffic engineers. Copies are available on request at the Authority's administration building, Route 18 and Interchange 9, East Brunswick, or hy writing to Frank B. Holman, Turnpike Authority executive director, PO Box 1121, New Brunswick 08903.

Tuesday's leclure is entitled "New Colours and Shadows: Feminism, Polities, and the Novel." It will address the emerging issues of culturc, difference, and hicrarchy that have hegun to affect the form and even the definition of the novel since, as Virginia Woolf prophesied, women's changing public status has transformed lhe way they write fiction.

Admission is free, and the pnhlic is encouraged to attend. For more information, call 258-3977 or 683-5178.

Student, 20, Is Injured In Forbes College Fall

A 20-year-old Princeton University student, Peter Kellner of New York City, sustained a head injury last week when he fell and hit his head outside Forbes College.

According to Township police, Kellner, allegedly severely intoxicated, was walking outside the dorm, assisted by two friends, when he collapsed and struck his head on the pavement around 8:30 Friday morning.

Responding to a call from the dorm, police, University proctors and the Princeton First Aid squad coverged on the scene. Bleeding and unconscious, Kellner was transported to the Princeton Medical Center where he was admitted to the intensive care unit for treatment His condition was later upgraded to semi-conscious and stable.

The vietim had apparently been celebrating his acceptance into Tiger Inn, one of two remaining all-male eating clubs on Prospect Avenue.

The incident occurred the morning of the day University officials had requested eating club officers to enforce strict drinking policics during the annual sign-in weekend. During sign-in festivities, parties are held on campus to celebrate the initiation of new club members.

On Saturday night, three students, described as "mildly intoxicated," were admitted to the school's McCosh Infirmary for treatment.

Dr. Louis Pyle, the University's health services director, declined to reveal if the three were of legal drinking age or whether they had participated in sign-ins.

That number was sharply lower than in February, 1988, when 46 students were treated for excessive drinking — including six who had to be treated for alcohol poisoning at Princeton Medical Center, one in serious condition.

Last month, in the wake of a progressive drinking incident on campus, University officials suspended 11 Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity students for one year. It placed two more on probation for a year and forced the SAE president to withdraw from the school for one year.

Since then, several of the parents of the suspended students have visited the campus to discuss the severity of the suspension with University officers.

THE GALA WAS A SUCCESS: Among the 300 guests and patrons who attended Princeton Ballet's successful fund-raising dinner dance at the Princeton Marriott on February 3 were Michael and Suzanne Bongiovanni and Jim and Nora Orphanides. Mrs. Orphanides is a Princeton Ballet board member.

Thirty-Eight Acres Given To Conservation Group

Margaret LaFarge Hamill of Princeton has donated a conservation/agricultural easement on 38 acres in Lawrence Township to the New Jersey Conservation Foundation (NJCF). The easement, extending for approximately one-half mile along the Shipetaukin Creek, covers a "greenway" of old-growth woodlands, wetlands and adjoining farmland that is currently in pasture.

NJCF, a private, nonprofit land trust, will assure that the property remains in a natural, undisturbed condition. The acreage provides wildlife habitat in old-growth woodlands and wetlands, as well as adjoining pastures, fields and orchards which also contribute to the ecological, scenic and agricultural values of the tract.

The Shipetaukin, and the Assunpink into which it flows, have long been a source of downstream floods. The easement will provide partial protection for the Shipetaukin stream corridor, lessening the potential for future damaging effects of floods in downstream areas of Lawrence and Trenton, while preserving a habitat for birds and other wildlife.

"Our family was unanimous in wanting this special area to remain in a relatively natural state," said Mrs. Hamill. "We have a long way to go to make greenways a reality in Lawrence Township. We hope to encourage other individuals who own portions of stream corridors to agree to similar voluntary restrictions.

"We also want to give momentum to the local efforts of the Lawrence Township Conservation Foundation, the Delaware & Raritan Greenway and other private groups devoted to land conservation and protection of streamside greenways."

Lawrence Township declared in its 1987 master plan and subsequent land-use regulations that the preservation of stream corridors, environmentally sensitive areas and farmland is of "the very highest priority" as a matter of local land-use policy. The land is located within an agricultural development area, as defined under the State Farmland Preservation Program.

Mrs. Hamill made an $18,000 contribution to NJCF's easement management fund, to help defray the expenses of the Foundation's easement monitoring program.

The Lawrenceville School Gets Scholarship Fund

Head Master Josiah Bunting III of The Lawrenceville School has announced the establishment of the Reuben T. Carlson Scholarship Fund by Mrs. Reuben T. Carlson of Lambert Drive.

This scholarship fund is given in honor of her late husband (1899-1977), and represents a gift of more than $200,000 to the School's endowment. The annual income from the scholarship will pay for substantially all tuition, room and board for the last two years of a boarding student's residence at Lawrenceville.

Mr. Carlson was a 1923 graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and was graduated in 1926 from Georgetown Law School. He did post-graduate work at Harvard Law School and the Columbia School of Economics before embarking on a career as an attorney specializing in patent and trademark law. For many years he was a partner in the New York firm of Austin, Seabury, and Carlson, and later Holland, Armstrong, and Carlson.

Student Housing Sought

The Physical Therapy Department of Princeton Medical Center is looking for housing in the Princeton area for out-of-state students who are required to complete six- to eight-week rotations at the Medical Center. Most students are in baccalaureate or post-baccalaureate programs.

Since students will be able to take meals in the hospital cafeteria, kitchen privileges are not a necessity. If you are interested in renting a room to a physical therapy student or would like more information, call Susan Trehilcock at 497-3045.

Students Asked to Attend Engineering Career Days

In recognition of National Engineers Week, the Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey has announced "Engineer Your Career" days to be held February 22 and 28 at Princeton University and the Rutgers University Busch College Engineering campus in Piscataway, respectively.

The two-day event (one day at each site) is intended to heighten the awareness of junior and high school students about engineering as a career option. All New Jersey junior and high school students are invited to attend, in addition to all current engineering students.

The days will feature a number of engineering displays, such as the Franklin Institute's microcomputer-powered train and the NYNEX 1989 electrical engineering award-winning exhibit at the Princeton University location. Engineers from a variety of disciplines will be on hand.

A panel discussion on "The Role of Engineering in the 1990s" will be held in the morning each day. These discussions will feature key New Jersey engineering, media, government and other personalities. A question-and-answer session will follow.

Students wishing to participate should call Debbie Hart at CECNJ Headquarters, (201) 397-1100.

Two Princeton Residents Named to MSM Board

Thomas J. Cawley, executive vice president of Elizabethtown Water Company, and William M. Swain Jr., a real estate consultant, were elected to the board of directors of the Middlesex Somerset Mercer Regional Council (MSM) at its recent board meeting.

Mr. Cawley and Mr. Swain will serve three-year terms on the MSM Board, which is composed of business leaders and citizens concerned about the future of land use in the region. MSM is a nonprofit, nonpartisan regional planning organization founded in 1968, and dedicated to the advocacy of sound land use decisions in Middlesex, Somerset and Mercer counties.

Mr. Cawley, who has been with Elizabethtown Water Company since 1969, assumed his current position in 1987. A graduate of the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, he was Borough Engineer in the late 1960s and later was elected to a three-year term on Borough Council. Mr. Cawley is a member of several waterworks and water quality associations.

Mr. Swain has been active in real estate development for the past 20 years. He was a founder, principal and managing partner of The Linpro Company until his retirement in 1988. Young Entrepreneur Sees a Future in Buffalo Wings; Plans to Expand Chuck's Cafe into Nationwide Chain

NEW OWNER OF CHUCK'S, Lyle Menendez, right, in front of the Spring Street restaurant with assistant Hayden Rogers.

The Buffalo wing might have been born in that northern New York city, but if Lyle Menendez has his way, Princeton will be its jumping-off place to national success.

The 22-year-old former Princeton University student, a graduate of Princeton Day School, has bought Chuck's Spring Street Cafe for an undisclosed sum. He wants to expand it into a nationwide chain under a new name, Mr. Buffalo's.

Mr. Menendez said Mr. Buffalo's would have a midwestern motif centered around health food and Buffalo wings. He plans to build the first in the chain at Quaker Bridge Road and Park Plaza in April.

Future plans call for expansion throughout the country, with early sites planned near Rutgers University, the University of California at Los Angeles, and Yale University.

Mr. Menendez bought Chuck's with money inherited from his parents, Jose and Kitty Menendez. The couple was found murdered in their home in Beverly Hills on August 20, 1989.

The Menendez family had lived in Elm Ridge Park for many years. For a brief time, before moving to California, the family lived in the former J. Dudley Clark house that is now part of the Mountain Lakes preserve. At the time of his death, Jose Menendez was chairman and chief executive officer of Live Entertainment, Inc., a major distributor and retailer of video and recorded entertainment.

The homicide remains under investigation by the Beverly Hills Police Department.

Lyle Menendez said he was happy about his decision last year to leave Princeton University. "It's a trade-off," he explained. "I would love to get the education, but I can't justify postponing my dreams."

Hayden Rogers, a member of the class of '92, has taken the year off from the University to serve as chief operating officer for the new chain.

Gus Tangalos, who managed Chuck's for the previous owner, will continue at the restaurant.

Strength from Community

Mr. Menendez, who spent much of his childhood in Princeton, said he has drawn strength from the community in the past few months.

"I've found the University and the Princeton populace to be extremely supportive, both in light of the recent tragedy and for my pursuing endeavors," he said, adding that it was one of his mother's delights that he open a small restaurant chain and serve healthy food with friendly service.

The founder and original owner of Chuck's, Chuck Hector, is a 1978 graduate of Princeton University. He introduced the Buffalo wing to Princeton in a small Spring Street location that formerly housed Rosso's Cafe. Mr. Hector currently owns Chuck's in Hamilton Township.

Mr. Menendez said he would like to expand into the second story of the Spring Street site. He intends to keep the basic menu, but has upgraded the chicken wings.

Antarctiea Is Snbjeet Of Sunday Slide Talk

Kathy Cashman, an assistant professor in the Geology Department at Princeton University, will speak at the Mountain Lakes House on Sunday, February 25. Tea will be served at 4:30, and Dr. Cashman's lecture and slide show, "Penguins, Volcanoes & Iee: A Trip to Antaretiea" will begin at 5.

Dr. Cashman is a voleanologist studying how magma (molten rock), crystallizes. She will talk about her work in Antarctica, particularly about collecting samples from a lava lake in the summit crater of Mount Erebus Volcano on Ross Island. Dr. Cashman is also an avid photographer who finds the vast open spaees, rugged terrain, and massive glaciers of the Antaretie to be especially challenging — and rewarding — subjects.

After earning a B.A. in geology and biology from Middlehury College in Vermont, Dr. Cashman was a Fulbright Scholar at Victoria University in Wellington, New Zealand. She earned her doctorate at Johns Hopkins. In addition to her work in Antarctiea, she has done field work at Mount Saint Helens volcano in Washington and in Indonesia, and Japan.

The program is the fourth in a series of lectures and slide shows on topics of natural history, travel and ecology sponsored by the Friends of Princelon Open Space (FOPOS). Admission is free. For more information, call 683-9022.

THE YELLOW BRICK ROAD TO RAISING MONEY: "The Wizard of Oz" is the theme chosen for Mercer County Community College Foundation's first annual fundraiser at the Princeton Hyatt Regency. Holding models of some of the Oz characters that will be at the fundraiser are (clockwise from bottom) Rose Nini, dean of planning and development and executive director of the MCCC Foundation; Arlene Sengstack, head of the ticket sales committee; Richard Wagner, chair of the "Dare to Dream" event; and Maggie Henderson of the Hyatt Regency.

Fundraiser Planned By Mercer College

On their way to the Emerald City ballroom they will meet all the Oz characters: Dorothy and Toto, the Tin Man, Searecrow and Cowardly Lion, Glinda and the Wicked Witch, the Munchkins and the Mayor of Munchkinland.

The festivities will begin with cocktails at 6, followed by dinner at 7 and dancing.

drainage and garbage collection conditions that must meet the Borough engineer's approval

And there were issues of building design that will be referred to an ad hoc committee of the Planning Board composed of the three officers, Margen Penick, Joseph O'Neill and Mr. Henkel, as well as Mary Cohen, a new member, and Marvin Reed, both of the Borough. This committee will seek changes in window and facade treatment to minimize what is perceived as the massiveness of the project.

Board member Pamela Morine voted against approval because she found the massiveness "potentially overbearing." She said she preferred the 1987 plan in which there were indentations to the townhouse groupings along the street. "This is so straight," she complained. "It lacks a sense of neighborhood."

Many of the residents who spoke in opposition to the plan also spoke about massiveness. Collins brought in the Hillier Group to revise its 1987 plan believing that the market would better support larger townhouse units and better defined private open space associated with each unit.

Curved Facade

In response to Planning Board and neighbor concern about the massiveness at the corner of Paul Robeson Place and Chambers Street, Collins plans to remove one unit at that corner, relocating it elsewhere on the site, and to curve the building facade as it rounds the corner. Dwight Collins announced this change, which someone dubbed "London Georgian," at the outset of last week's meeting, and Planning Board Chairwoman Margen Penick praised him for being responsive to the concerns.

Mr. Collins also said that different motifs can be added to the building facade. On the issue of assigned vs. overlapped parking in the parking garage, he said that there will always be one space per townhouse and if someone wants a second space, the cost would never exceed the market.

By ordinance and by calculations based on the size of the townhouses, Collins has to provide 112 spaces, which is also the capacity of the upper level long-term parking area. Thirty-two spaces will be located next to the garage level entrances to 32 of the triplex townhouses. Residents of the remaining 80 units would receive a space, not specifically assigned, as part of their purchase agreement for a townhouse.

The Planning Board members asked for 114 spaces, one for each unit, to be reserved. They worried that the overlapping would mean that residents would use the streets for parking when they couldn't find a space within the garage. Thomas Jamieson, attorney for Collins, told the board that Collins would make 48 of the 80 spaces not subject to overlap and would monitor how well the program was working.

Overlapping Essential

"We are one hundred percent sure overlapping won't create hardship," Mr. Jamieson said. He pointed out that the Collins' Palmer Square project consists of overlapped uses — hotel, retail, office and residential — and asserted that "overlapping is absolutely essential to the way the whole thing works.

"Experience in the existing garage shows we can make it work," he continued. "But if it turns out that all 112 residents come home for lunch, then we'll say no overlap.

The board stipulated 114 spaces and monthly review of the situation.

Another issue of interest to the neighbors was that of garbage pick-up. Mr. Collins said that garbage removal for these 114 units would be treated no differently from garbage pickup for residents of Palmer Square West — namely pick-up three days a week. He spoke of an area at 100 Palmer Square West which contains a trash compactor and will also contain recycling bins. There will not be garbage cans on the street, he said.

Collins will pay for a Garmen Associates study of the Paul Robeson Place and Chambers Street intersection to see if a traffic light and/or other improvements are needed, and will pay for any improvements that are approved or required by the State Department of Transportation. Yota Switzgable of Greenholm suggested that if the State says the intersection should not be signalized a pedestrian light should be installed.

Fencing & Landscaping

Collins has agreed to pay for fencing and landscaping on Paul Robeson Place across the street from the townhouses — the details to be worked out with the neighbors and with the landscape subcommittee. The 97 townhouses are expected to be built over a 10-year period, never more than 10 units at a time, with all amenities for one phase in place before construction begins on the next phase.

The right of the public to access to the east and west commons and the mews, three walkways leading into the development from Paul Robeson Place, as well as to the promenade parallel to Hulfish North, will be spelled out in the legal documents. When completed, the project will contain 330,000 square feet of gross floor area, with more than 25 percent (the requirement) in public open space.

Ronald Berlin, a member of the Site Plan Review Advisory Committee, said that the 25 percent open space is "not really usable." He suggested that Collins "reconsider" the number of units at the Witherspoon Street corner and consider purchasing adjacent property to make a "pleasant and usable park" across from the Public Library.

Mrs. Penick told him that during its Master Plan deliberations the Planning Board had considered designating this area as a park, but had decided future building on private property could overshadow such a park. It would be more feasible to locate a park as part of the development of the library municipal lot, she said.

Height Variance

A height variance was the only variance required for approval. The height of the buildings along Chamber Street and in the central mews varies from eight inches to 2½ feet above the Borough's 35-foot limitation. The height variance was dictated by the slope on Chambers Street and the height of the pre-existing garage, according to Mr. Jamieson.

Mrs. Penick sought to postpone final approval until the items to be reviewed by the Borough engineer had been approved, but Mr. Jamieson objected. "We applied in June, 1989," he said. "We've been working with you month after month.

"I urge you not to impose another meeting with respect to final approval. We're fully mindful of the loose ends. Most of them relate to landscaping, and it has worked well in the past to refer them to your landscape subcommittee. Technically, you have no authority to tell an architect how to design a building. But we're willing to work with you. In fairness, this applicant is entitled to receive final approval now."

Several members of the Planning Board agreed, and Mrs. Penick withdrew that restriction from her motion.

Florence Peters and Bishop Prince Taylor Receive Gerard B. Lambert Service Awards

Florence (Pete) Peters and Bishop Prince A. Taylor will receive the Gerard B. Lambert Award for outstanding community service from the United Way-Princeton Area Communities at its annual meeting and awards presentation on Tuesday evening.

The dinner meeting will be held at Bristol-Myers Squibb on Route 206. There will be a reception at 6, followed by dinner at 6:30 and the meeting at 7:45. The price is $40. The public is invited, but reservations are required, and the deadline is this Wednesday, February 14. Call 799-6639 for further information.

The Gerard B Lambert Award is the highest honor bestowed upon volunteers by the United Way. Mrs. Peters and Bishop Taylor are both long-time residents who have served on a variety of boards in the community. The list is somewhat shorter for Bishop Taylor than for Mrs. Peters, but he has also had a distinguished career as a pastor, educator, editor and Methodist bishop in this country and abroad.

Bishop Taylor, who turned 83 at the end of January, was born in Oklahoma and received his undergraduate degree at Huston Tillotson College in Austin, Tex. and his M.Div. from Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Ga. Ordained in North Carolina in 1931, he was a pastor for seven years before coming north to to earn an M.A at Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University and a doctorate in education from New York University.

From 1943 to 1948 he taught religion and was assistant to the president of Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C. He also taught at Gammon Seminary and at Clark College in Atlanta. In 1948 he became editor of the Central Christian Advocate, published in New Orleans. Elected a bishop on June 16, 1956, he was assigned to the Monrovia Area in Liberia, West Africa, where he served nine years until being re-assigned to the New Jersey Area.

Coming to Princeton in 1964, he served the New Jersey Area until retiring in 1976. During this period, Bishop Taylor also was president of the Council of Bishops; served on the Commission on the Structure of Methodism overseas; and was chairman of the Division of Chaplains and Related Ministries for his denomination. In 1971, he was made chairman of the World Methodist Council, an affiliation of churches in the Methodist tradition all over the world.

Service: Local and World

After his five-year term as chairman of this Council was up, Bishop Taylor was successively elevated to honorary president, advisor on the executive committee, and past chairman, officer for life. He also served on the general board of the National Council of Churches and on the United Methodist Church Commission on Ecumenical Affairs.

Meanwhile, he also became active in State and local agencies. Appointed by Gov. Richard Hughes to a Select Commisison on Civil Disorder in 1967-68, he served on the New Jersey State Youth Commission for seven years during the Hughes administration. He was also a member of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware Committee on Regional Development.

In this community, Bishop Taylor has been a loyal member of the Princeton Club of Rotary International since 1965 and was named a Paul Harris Fellow, the highest honor Rotary can confer, as well as Man of the Year. He has served on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the Princeton Adult School, Family Service Agency and the YMCA.

He has also served as a trustee of the Pennington School and the American Boychoir School, two schools among the several universities and colleges, seminaries and hospitals he serves. He claims no favorites among these activites. "I've enjoyed them all," Bishop Taylor says. "They are all separate and different things, different ways of trying to serve the community."

Twice decorated by the government of Liberia, Bishop Taylor received the St. George Medal for distinguished service in the United Methodist Church and the World Methodist Council. In 1971, he was invited by the Shah of Iran to the celebration of the 2,500th anniversary of King Cyrus the Great as one of 20 religious leaders from around the world. At the Convocation of Religion and World Peace, a two-day celebration held in connection with the 20th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1965, Bishop Taylor delivered the message for Protestantism around the world.

Since retirement, he has written his autobiography, Life of My Years, and three years ago was admitted into the United Methodist Association of Communicators Hall of Fame.

A Focus on Princeton

While Bishop Taylor's involvement in the local community stems from a general concern for his fellow man that goes with being a pastor, educator and editor on more of a global scale, Mrs. Peters' activities are quite specific to Princeton and were fostered by her interest in writing and in planning and organizing new projects that would be of benefit to the community.

"Pete" Peters

"I've always enjoyed writing, being a curious person," Mrs. Peters remarks, "And I loved being on the ground floor of things, when someone would suggest a new idea, and a bunch of us would sit around and talk about it and then make it happen." Thus the list of her volunteer activities contains a remarkable number of founding memberships.

From 1963 to 1970, for instance, stimulated by her interest in Vatican II, Mrs. Peters helped initiate lay-taught CCD (Confraternity of Christian Doctrine) classes at St. Paul's Church. She was a member of the initial board, a teacher and leader. In 1965-1970, she was a founding member of the board of the Princeton Interfaith Council, an ecumenical organization of people with a variety of community concerns.

One of the concerns at the time was the plight of migrant workers in the area. Activities on their behalf led in turn to Mrs. Peters being named to the board of directors of the Princeton YWCA in 1972. She served on this board for two three-year terms doing public relations and publicity for forums and events.

She was editor of a newsletter for the YWCA and with Marge Smith participated in organizing, planning and publicizing the Days for Women events as well as the first Craftswomen Marketplace which became an annual fundraiser. When Harriet McLoughlin started the Friends of the Princeton YWCA, Mrs. Peters was one of the original members of the Friends Council. She was also on the original committee for the YWCA's Tribute to Women in Industry (TWIN) award.

Co-chair with Phyllis Marchand and Ruth Wilson of the publicity for the Hospital Fete in 1976 and 1977, she was named to the executive board of the Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton in 1977 and became co-editor with Pat Landman of the Auxiliary newsletter.

From Boards to Gordens

That led to being elected to the board of the Associates of McCarter Theatre, where she served two terms, doing a one-time newsletter and brochures as well as serving on the by-laws committee and the nominating committee. Mrs. Peters' hobbies are gardening, tennis and beach combing. She served as president of the Garden Club of Princeton from 1978 to 1980 and says her favorite part of being a Garden Club member has been the civic projects — the bicentennial planting of Tiger Park at Palmer Square and planting around Veblen's house in Herrontown Woods.

From being the YWCA liaison to the United Way, Mrs. Peters went on the United Way board. She served on the executive committee in 1981-82 and headed the personal gifts solicitation in 1986 and the special gifts solicitation in 1987. She also was a liaison to the Council of Community Services.

Meanwhile, having served as editor of the Historical Society's "News and Notes" for several years, she was elected to the Historical Society's board of trustees and currently serves as vice president. She served on the trip committee of the Friends of the Princeton University Art Museum in 1976 and was named to that board in 1988.

Except for serving as a driver for the YWCA's Friday Club for six years, Mrs. Peters has not been involved in one-to-one, hands-on volunteering. Publicity is something few volunteers take on, but to Mrs. Peters it is a "wonderful way to get the know the whole picture." She did the publicity for the New Jersey Daffodil Show in 1978 and '79 and for a town flower show in 1980. In 1981, '82 and '84 she was in charge of the Statewide publicity for Princeton Friends of Channel 13 major benefits.

Early Orientation

Mrs. Peters grew up in Montclair and credits her mother's example as a volunteer, as well as her schooling by Sacred Heart nuns and subsequent training in the Junior League, with laying the groundwork for her own volunteer efforts. "I grew up knowing that volunteer work is something you did. At the Convent of the Sacred Heart we were taught that we'd been given a lot and therefore we owe a lot."

A Princeton resident since 1955, she says that caring about the town and enjoying working with people have been primary motivation for all her activities. "All these groups allowed me to learn many things, to meet new people and to make many friends," Mrs. Peters says.

Bishop Taylor undoubtedly feels the same way.

Respect It Deserves Is Restored to Morven

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The green trailer that moved to the Morven property last week has just left for a more appropriate site. Our thanks go to Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Mark Gordon of Princeton Borough, to Colleen McCann of the Office of the Secretary of State, and to the reporters of the area press, all of whom worked toward a solution to the problem of locating the Governor's security detail.

More than the direct benefit to us, however, the action gives the historic Morven property the kind of "respect it deserves," as called for in the recent eloquent letter of Angeline F. Austin. We hope that the State Museum and the Historic Morven Foundation can now move ahead to restoring the Morven buildings and grounds to the beauty and historical significance inherent in the property.

Peace on Earth Concert Is Grateful to Many

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I want to publicly thank everyone who contributed to the success of our fourth annual New Year's Concert for Peace on Earth featuring Odetta and Trenton's Shiloh Baptist Church choirs on January 6 at McCarter Theatre.

Many, many people worked hard to make the concert happen, and although there are too many to list here, I thank each and every one of them. We also deeply appreciate the support of the people who attended the concert, including the sponsors and patrons.

Deserving of special thanks are: Margaret Burt and Sylvia Temmer, co-chairpersons of the Concert Committee; Patricia Paine Dougherty, advisory chair; John Herochik and the staff at McCarter; Trenton's Shiloh Baptist Church choirs for performing in the concert; Stanley and Pobie Parnet of Community Liquors for donating the wine; and Tucker Anthony Investment Brokers for underwriting the concert program.

We deeply appreciate this tremendous support which helps advance our educational efforts on behalf of a world without nuclear weapons. We are already beginning to plan for next year's concert and invite anyone who is interested in being part of the Concert Committee to contact our office.

Eden "Winter Dreams" Contributors Thanked

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Recently the Eden Family of Programs held its second annual Winter Dreams fund-raising event entitled, "Dreams of Scheherazade." This event was held at the Hyatt Regency Princeton and raised over $80,000 to support the children and adults with autism that the Eden Family of Programs serves throughout central New Jersey.

I would like to thank all of the members of the Committee who enabled this very special event to occur for our children, especially Ida Julian, Chairman, and P.J. Dempsey, Co-Chairman of the event. Further, I would like to thank the Hyatt Regency Princeton and its very special general manager, Don Henderson, and his wife, Maggie, for all of their support and encouragement. To all of the friends of Eden I say, thank you, on behalf of the many children and adults that we serve but who cannot speak for themselves.

The public and prospective members are invited to attend. For additional information, call Elaine Koss at 275-0282 or Bonnie Leibowitz at 275-3673.

This Isn't The Only House That Can Lower Your Taxes.

Before you look to Washington for a tax deduction, look in your own back yard.

With a New Jersey National Bank Home Equity Loan, the house you live in can cut your tax bill without so much as a filibuster. Because the interest you pay may be 100% tax deductible, Not 20%. Not 10%. Which makes it the smartest way to restructure your debt.

If you want to manage your taxes better next year, manage your money better now. Consider lowering your monthly payment by paying off your high interest charge cards and loans with a NJNB Home Equity Loan. Or ask about personal loans at slightly higher rates. Call 1-800-542-5626, ext. 124, weekdays 8:30am-8:30pm, Saturdays 10:00am to 2:00pm, or stop by any branch. Because the one house you can count on to lower your taxes is your own.

*10.99% APR available for secured loans of 120 months or less when automatic deductions from an NJNB checking account are used. An 11.74% APR is applied for secured loans with terms of 121-120 months where automatic deductions are not used. Minimum loan available to receive 10.99% APR is $5,000 for a home equity loan. Rates and terms for secured loans of up to 15 years are available. Rates subject to change. Home Equity Loans must be secured by your primary residence. Check with your tax advisor about specific eligibility for tax deductibility. Example: If you borrow $15,000 at 10.99% APR for 120 months, your monthly payment would be $235.60. This includes single life accident and health insurance. Title insurance is required on loans of $100,000 or more. Approval for secured loans may be subject to property search and appraisal. Additional income verification may be required.

A Gourmet Assortment Highlights Bon Appetit

Bon Appetit in the Princeton Shopping Center has been a Princeton favorite for more than 20 years. Established in 1967 by Carl and Virginia Andersen, it has been known for its fine selection of cheese and gourmet items, enjoying an excellent reputation which has increased over two decades.

Last August, Michael Lemmerling purchased the store and in doing so has brought to it the tradition and years of experience of his family's gourmet food store in Louvain, Belgium. "Lemmerling's of Louvain existed for 102 years," he explains. "My great grandfather started it in 1887, and I was the fourth generation to be involved. It began as a cheese shop and then gradually added other gourmet items, so it was the same type of store as this, and it was in another university city."

When the opportunity to acquire Bon Appetit arose, Mr. Lemmerling did not hesitate. "It is a dream come true to be here. My brother has been here for 23 years, and whenever I came to visit, I thought it would be nice to have a gourmet shop here. I like Princeton.

"Also," he adds, "now the name of Lemmerling's will be continued here. Something my family created, the family business, will go on in a new place. In fact, we're going to put up pictures of Lemmerling's of Louvain so people can see it."

Increased Choice

The same high quality cheeses (over 200 different kinds, including low-fat, from many countries) at gourmet items will continue to be offered, as well as some new additions, notes Mr. Lemmerling. "We have increased the choices and added homemade salads, six different smoked salmons, real prosciutto ham from Italy, imported Belgian pate and real French fois gras, a variety of sausages, including Boudin, bulk olives and bulk peppercorns, as well as an expanded bakery section and catering department. We have two new chefs, Alice Frot, in charge of the bakery and catering, and Gina Ammirata heading the deli department.

"I also want people to realize we brought many of the recipes from Belgium," he adds. "Our homemade tuna salad, Savoyard cheese (a mix of cream cheese, blue cheese and other French cheeses) and cheese croquettes are special recipes, some 100 years old."

APPETIZING ARRAY: "People really have to come in and browse and look around. I want them to. They have to take their time. There is just so much to see," says Michael Lemmerling, owner of Bon Appetit in the Princeton Shopping Center. The gourmet food shop is filled with a wonderful selection of cheese, chocolate, salads, fresh meat and fish, as well as an extensive variety of gourmet sauces, jams, jellies, tea and coffee.

Customers are sampling many of the new items, he reports. People stop in at lunch or after work to take home such dishes as quiche, veal tarts, taboule, rigatoni, goulash, sesame chicken salad, veal meat balls and herring in wine or mustard dill sauce. Croissant sandwiches are available every day, as are two different homemade soups and two different kinds of coffee.

"We have a very large selection of coffee (over 30 varieties) averaging 20% lower than anywhere in town," says Mr. Lemmerling. "Our regular coffees are all $5.99 a pound, and the most expensive is about $8. "Also," he adds, "we will soon have a cappuccino and espresso bar, a standing table, for people to take a cup of coffee and a pastry. We already have a cappuccino and espresso machine."

In addition, he is planning a salad bar with all the ingreadients for customers to create their own salads for take-out. "I hope we can introduce customers to new items," he says. "We'll always try to do this. For example, we have a wide selection of chocolate and candy, including Daskalides, the top-of-the-line chocolate in Belgium, as well as the Belgian specialty fruit paste, which comes in several flavors with nothing artificial. It's new to people here. They think it's like fruit jellies, but it is really totally different. We're also the only store in the area to carry Belgian Galler chocolate, including a variety of chocolate bars."

Gourmet honey, sauces, jams, jellies and cookies are also in abundance, many beautifully packaged from England, Scotland and France. Domestic specialties, such as Corryell's Crossing jams from Lambertville and Clearbrook Farms preserves are also available.

Gift Baskets

Gift baskets are becoming another specialty of Bon Appetit, and they can start at $20 for a small one. Customers are encouraged to create their own basket with the help of Mr. Lemmerling or other staff members.

Catering is an area which Bon Appetit hopes to expand. Alice Frot heads the department and looks forward to helping customers. "We can do everything from a dinner for two to a party for 600," she comments, "as well as every kind of occasion — picnics, special dinners, weddings, corporate meetings, etc. We do custom work. People can come and talk with me about what they want, and we'll work it out together."

And now for dessert! Bon Appetit has added an extensive bakery department which is displayed in mouthwatering splendor. Those with a serious sweet tooth often just stand and gaze, savoring the visual display and the anticipation of what's to come. "Everything is fresh and made from scratch. The dough and cream are made here every day," notes chef Alice Frot.

There are chocolate mousse cups, chocolate chip caramel brownies, and chocolate caramel bars; apple strudel and baked apple slices with pastry; cookies of all types, as well as cakes, pies and a full range of tarts, tartlettes, and mini tartlettes. Lemon, apple, pear, almond and berry are all available and are as appealing to look at as they are to eat.

Prices at Bon Appetit vary. Items range from under $1 to the most expensive pure fois gras and caviar. The prosciutto from Italy is $12.95 a half pound, and croissant sandwiches are $3.25. Tarragon chicken salad is $3.95 a half pound, and taboule is $2.75 a half pound. Brioches are 95 cents each, croissants 69 cents, brownies $1.29 and tarts $15.95 to $28.95. Tartlettes are $1.90 and up.

Mr. Lemmerling says he has received a warm welcome from Bon Appetit customers, and he plans to do all he can to continue to offer them high quality. "People here are knowledgeable about food, and we want to please them.

"I'm absolutely encouraged," he adds. "I really enjoy this work. We have a wonderful staff, and I think people love the store and all the choices."

Bon Appetit offers gift certificates and delivery service in Princeton. It is open Monday through Friday from 8 to 7, Thursday until 9, Saturday 9 to 6 and Sunday 12 to 5. The phone is 924-7755 and the FAX number 924-3697.

The Nature Company: A Fascinating Adventure

Browsing is a must at The Nature Company! The variety of fascinating items is such that customers may plan a quick stop for a single purchase and find themselves lured into spending happy hours amidst the abundance of splendid stimulating specialties.

The atmosphere is conducive to a pleasant stay. Water ripples through a water course, New Age and classical music and environmental sounds mingle in the background, and complimentary herbal tea is served, as a multitude of captivating objects catch the eye and engage the mind.

"We want to make people feel good about themselves and the world they live in," explains manager Mike Jones. "We try very hard to sell a good quality product in a visually stimulating environment."

The Nature Company, which opened December 2 on Hulfish Street and Palmer Square, does just that. One of 39 stores across the country, it is a product of the philosophy of Tom and Priscilla Wrubel who established the first Nature Company in Berkeley, Calif., in 1973.

"The Nature Company provides and creates products devoted to the observation and understanding of the natural world. We sell nothing that condones the capture, captivity or killing of animals. That includes sea shells, butterfly specimens and furs," explains Mr. Jones.

What the store does offer is a selection of more than 10,000 items, including books, outdoor products (sundials, weathervanes, wind chimes, bird feeders), artwork from sculpture to prints and posters, fossil and mineral specimens, jewelry, naturalist tools (canteens, compasses), and high-powered sophisticated telescopes, microscopes, binoculars and weather instruments. There are also assorted globes, kaleidoscopes, audio and video tapes, as well as shower curtains, umbrellas, T-shirts, inflatable gorillas, dinosaurs and snakes, and all-occasion greeting cards and wrapping paper.

"Please Touch"

Kids of all ages make a beeline for the numerous toy-type items, which are all easily accessible. As Mr. Jones points out, "There are no 'Please Don't Touch' signs at The Nature Company. Everything is set out to touch."

Who could resist? There are energy orbs which light up when placed in the hand, laser-printed optical discs that create 3-D stroboscopic images as they spin, pocket telescope-microscopes, wave motion wands and keyrings, optical toys with mixable colored discs that combine for different colors when they spin and laser-imprinted 3-D rulers on which dinosaurs move as the ruler is tilted.

NATURAL IS BEST: "This is a natural history store. The merchandise is for the observation, understanding and appreciation of nature." Manager Mike Jones, left, and assistant manager Rex Hughes of The Nature Company on Palmer Square and Hulfish Street are enthusiastic about the wide variety of intriguing choices at the new store, which also offers a series of safaris to Kenya, India, New Zealand-Australia and the Galapagos Islands, among other exotic locales.

This store is fun! "We feel we provide an educational environment, but we have a significant sense of humor. There is a humorous streak here that keeps things from getting too serious," smiles Mr. Jones.

The store's appearance and arrangement of merchandise has also been well received. "The store is set up in departments," he notes. "First we have our 'Backyard Area' with all the outdoor items, including a purple martin condominium birdfeeder with room for 12, and Paolo Soleri outdoor bells and fountains. "Then we have bins set up with things for the kids — the kaleidoscopes, magnifying pens, little rubber dinosaurs, gyroscopes, etc.

"There is also a section of artisan's works," he continues. "This includes Zuni Indian carvings of fetishes, such as bears, frogs, coyotes and rams, which were considered good luck pieces. These range from $20 to $425. We also have Inuit art, Eskimo stone sculpture from the Arctic region of Canada, and part of the proceeds from the sale of our African sculptures goes to the African Wildlife Relief Fund.

The book selection at The Nature Company is another big draw, comments Mr. Jones. "We have one of the largest selections of natural history books in the country, over 2,000 titles," he remarks. "Travel, nature commentary, science, botany, birds, animal life, children's books, including pop-up guides and activity books, are all available. There are also Audubon, Peterson's Sierra Club and Little Golden guide books, among others.

Fossils and Minerals

Another popular section of the store is the authentic fossil specimen selection. "Items are from $2.95 to $2,500, and cards explain where they're from and their time period," says Mr. Jones.

"My own favorite part of the store is the section devoted to authentic mineral specimens," he adds. "They range from $3.50 to $2,500 and include everything from native American copper to tourmaline. The geology department at Princeton University has said the minerals are museum quality."

In a way, The Nature Company is like a very special museum, permeated with that engaging sense of humor. There is a terrific selection of globes, for example, everything from $4.95 inflatables to $495 standing oak and brass models.

And dinosaurs have full range at the store. Available are inflatables, excavation kits and posters of "Dino on the Freeway," showing the gigantic Brachiosaurus towering over the trucks and cars on the road.

It is obvious that The Nature Company has a point of view, but it is never forced on the visitor. It strives to influence more by example than by preaching. "We are concerned with the environment," says Mr. Jones, "and we look upon it as a learning experience. If people spend time here and can appreciate the pleasures of the environment — all the plant and animal life, the oceans, etc., then they may want to save whales and dolphins. We also have T-shirts with pictures of endangered animals, and part of the proceeds goes to the World Wildlife Fund."

———

In addition, he observes, "With the environment such an important issue, we feel there's no better place to start than in our own back yard. We try to give something back to the community. We are offering a series of free special events, including views of the full moon through one of our telescopes. The next viewing will be Tuesday, April 10, in front of the store.

"We are also having bird walks and nature walks on specified Saturdays." Projects with area schools are also on the agenda.

The Nature Company is also planning an ambitious project for the upcoming Earth Day April 22. "As part of our observance, The Nature Company nationwide has pledged to plant 10,000 trees across the country," explains Mr. Jones. Customers may join the effort either by purchasing a tree from the company or by having The Nature Conservancy plant one in a reforestation area.

Mr. Jones has been very encouraged by Princeton's response to the store. "There has been tremendous word-of-mouth," he says, "and we already have many regular customers. I like the interaction with the customers and also the learning aspect here. It's an education every day, and we want to share that with our customers."

Gift certificates and shipping are available, and The Nature Company is open Monday through Saturday 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday until 9 and Sunday 12 to 5.

McCarter Theatre's 'Enemy of the People' Is a Lesson in How Not to Play Politics

THE LONG-SUFFERING WIFE: Jill Tanner portrays the sensible Mrs. Stockman in Ibsen's "Enemy of the People" now at McCarter Theatre.

It's hard to decide how seriously to take Henrik Ibsen's An Enemy of the People, the latest offering of McCarter Theatre, because it's not at all clear how seriously Ibsen took it.

He wrote it in 1882 in a state of rage against the press and public for their rejection of his 1881 play Ghosts, which dared to reveal the poisonous effect on children's health of venereal disease in a father.

Through the "hero" of Enemy he let himself rant and rail against his enemies, against democracy itself. But years later he confided to a friend that his mouthpiece, Dr. Stockman, was "partly a grotesque adolescent and hothead."

You will better appreciate Barry Boys' irritatingly asinine performance as Stockman with that in mind. He has to be playing it as satirical comedy.

In any case, McCarter's Enemy, under the hand of visiting Norwegian director Kjetil Bang-Hansen, moves along briskly, is well acted, and is recommended as a kind of morality melodrama or social cartoon.

To recap the story: Dr. Thomas Stockton makes the ego-gratifying scientific discovery that the booming town baths, of which he is staff physician, are poisonously polluted

He inexplicably expects the Norwegian townspeople to applaud him and welcome the finding that will shut down the town's main tourist attraction for two years of costly repiping. Instead they turn against him, egged on by his nasty, bottom-line-fixated brother Peter (played so nastily by Richard Leighton that one wonders how he ever got elected mayor).

Majority Always Wrong

They doubt him, then disbelieve him, then vote him down in a stormy town meeting in which he declares the majority to be always wrong, and finally they stone the spectacular two-story window of Stephan Olson's spectacular set — which, while eye-filling (note the rusty water pipe framing the proscenium) hardly identifies the Stockmans as fairly recently arrived in near poverty from Up North.

Along the way, the "liberal" press deserts him under economic pressure from brother Peter — and reverse sexual pressure from Stockman's lovely, spirited school-teacher daughter Petra (played by lovely, spirited Katherine Heasley) who proudly spurns a romantic advance from the editor. She shares her father's gift for doing the right thing in the least politic way.

Stockman's long-suffering wife (McCarter favorite Jill Tanner) seems rather sensible and down-to-earth to be stuck with the doctor, but she goes along. Oh, she does hint that he might temper his well-known overenthusiasm and work to better the baths without first getting everybody's back up, and thus avoid losing the job that has produced all the surrounding goodies.

No dice. Stockman plunges ahead, does get fired, and ends up damning democracy. "The strongest man stands most alone!" is his final pronouncement as he declares himself the strongest man in town. Ibsen tips his hand a bit by having Mrs. S. shake her head and say, "Thomas, Thomas!" as if to an incorrigible boy. But ambiguity is restored by the author's giving daughter Petra the last word as she grasps his hands, looks him adoringly in the eyes, and says, "Father!"

Modern Parallels

A parallel is sometimes seen between this play and today's battle to rescue the environment. But if today's hattlers show no more talent for the task than Stockman did, God help us.

Mrs. S.'s wealthy father (amusingly played by Frank Lowe) starts out on Stockman's side but switches when he sees a buck to be made. A sea captain friend (Charles dumas, great Ghost of Christmas Present in McCarter's latest Carol and a standout in Master Harold .... and the Boys) stays loyal to Stockman — and is beached.

Randolph Walker is fine as an obnoxious old printer and head of the "householders union" who puts in a word for "moderation" at every opening. Edmund Davys is convincing as the lovelorn, gutless newspaper editor, as is Randy Lilly as his fiery, gutless staff.

Justin Tecce and Davyd Stepper play the doctor's two young sons who say little but at intervals toy with a model village planted distractingly downstage center and left distractingly in place even through the public meeting scene.

The translation is by Rolf Fjelde, costumes by Elizabeth Covey, lighting by F. Mitchell Dana.

An Enemy of the People

A startlingly contemporary masterpiece from the playwright who revolutionized the 19th century stage. When Dr. Stockmann discovered the town water was ideal for health baths, the town became a prosperous tourist center. Now, Stockmann makes a second discovery: wastes from a tannery are polluting the baths and he takes a courageous stand. Instead of being lauded, he is despised for his honesty and the stage is set for a story as current as any in today's news.

Musical 'Baby' Planned By Dessert Theatre

Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell will present the musical Baby for a seven-weekend run, starting Friday, February 23.

With book by Sybille Pearson, music by David Shire and lyrics by Richard Maltby Jr., Baby is about the way impending parenthood affects three couples. As a Broadway musical Baby won two Drama Desk Awards and received seven Tony Award nominations.

The first couple, unmarried and in their 20s, is played by Jennifer Alagna of Spotswood and Aggie Roberts of Lawrenceville. Ms. Alagna portrayed Nora in the Off-Broadstreet Theatre production of Brighton Beach Memoirs. Mr. Roberts, a newcomer to Off-Broadstreet, is a senior at Trenton State College and last performed in the musical Little Shop of Horrors at Rider College.

The second couple, an athletic pair in their 30s, is faced with the added stress of fertility problems. They are played by Laura Jackson of Lawrenceville and Richard Chibbaro of North Brunswick. Both were featured in Off-Broadstreet's summer musical Chicogo.

Steven Murin of Hillsboro and Sharon Alexander of Hopewell play a couple who are celebrating their 20th anniversary and are surprised at the prospect of becoming parents once again. Mr. Murin was seen in a recent production of La Cage at the Villagers Theatre in Somerset.

Boby is directed by Robert Thick, Off-Broadstreet producer. Mark McGee, James Jarvie and Robert Garguillo are the musical combo, playing piano, percussion and bass, and doing some featured singing as well.

Performances are on weekends through April 7. Friday and Saturday evenings doors open at 7 for dessert with curtain at 8. Sunday matinees feature dessert at 1:30 with the performance beginning at 2:30. Admission on Friday and Sunday is $14.60, Saturday admission is $15.90.

There is a senior citizen discount for Sunday matinees. The theatre is located at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell. For reservations, call 466-2766.

'The Shadow Box' Set By School Drama Club

The Periwig Club of the Lawrenceville School is readying The Shadow Box, for presentation on the Kirby Arts Center stage, on Friday and Saturday. Both performances will start at 8.

The Shadow Box, a drama by Michael Cristofer, won the Pulitzer prize and the Tony award for best play of the 1976-77 season. It is concerned with the ways in which three different families deal with the terminal illness of a loved one. The director says it is not a play about death but about the dignity of life and the strength of the human spirit.

James Olson, a member of the drama department at Lawrenceville and production manager of the Kirby Arts Center, will direct. Mr. Olson has directed and designed shows at the Flint Youth Theatre and the Fine Arts High School in Flint, Mich., at the mercer County School of performing Arts, and at Lawrenceville.

Reserved seats at $3 may be obtained by calling 895-2044. Tickets will be held at the box office for pickup on night of performance.

FACULTY, STUDENTS DANCE: The Program in Theater and Dance at Princeton University will present its annual dance concert on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. Among the pieces choreographed by faculty and students will be dances by James May and Mark Taylor, lecturers in the Council of the Humanities and Theater and Dance.

Warsaw Ballet Coming; Will Present "Giselle"

The State Theatre in New Brunswick will present the Warsaw Ballet in a performance of Giselle on Wednesday, February 21, at 8. The performance is part of the company's third tour of the United States, its first since Poland's declaration of independence.

One of the masterpieces of the ballet repertoire, Giselle was first performed at the Paris Opera in 1841 to a score composed by Adolphe Adam. Based on a Slavic folk legend, Giselle is a highly romantic story of maidens who return to life by night as spirits who dance for their young suitors.

Tickets to the performance, priced from $10 to $22.50, may be ordered in advance by calling (201) 246-7469, or purchased at the door on the evening of the performance. The State Theatre is located at 19 Livingston Avenue in downtown New Brunswick.

The world premiere of Leslie Lee's play, Block Eagles, will be performed at Crossroads Theatre Company as the theater's 1990 Black History Month production. The play will be in previews for eight nights, starting Thursday. Opening night is Saturday, February 24. It closes March 25.

Directed by Crossroads' producing artistic director Rick Khan, Block Eagles dramatizes the experiences of America's first black fighter pilots. Known in the history books as the Tuskegee Airmen, they took their name from Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, where the first black pilots admitted to the Air Force were trained during World War II.

The play focuses on the recollections of three fictionalized airmen, who meet in the present at a reception honoring the real-life General Colin L. Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The aging airmen's reminiscences form the foundation of a flashback to Italy in 1944, when they were young and eager to prove themselves to a skeptical military establishment. Hindered by both subtle and overt racism, despite their reputation as fine flyers, they were forced to take a back seat in most air battles, serving as escorts, rather than fighters.

Historically, the Tuskegee Airmen were trained as part of a military "experiment" that sought to determine whether African Americans could learn to fly. Military documents from that era show that the country's highest military officers were doubtful. Nonetheless, with the eager support of Eleanor Roosevelt and under threat of an NAACP lawsuit, Tuskegee Institute was named as the site of the pilot training program in January, 1941.

Though commissioned as military flyers, the Tuskegee Airmen were permitted to serve only as escorts for

Correction

A press release from McCarter Theatre in connection with the appearance of the Bill T. Jones/Arnie Zane & Co. dance group this Wednesday, February 14, stated that the company piece D-Mon in the Waters was dedicated to Demian Acquavella, who "had lost his fight against AIDS."

McCarter has issued a correction stating that Mr. Acquavella is very much alive and that the theatre "sincerely regrets any misunderstanding" and extends its apologies to the company, Mr. Acquavella and the audience.

Italian Flutist in Recital On University Campus

The Friends of Music at Princeton will present Italian flutist Marzio Conti in recital on Sunday at 3 in Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall on the Princeton University campus. The program will feature music by 20th-century Italian composers scored for solo flute, as well as flute and magnetic tape.

Mr. Conti, a native of Florence, teaches flute at the Conservatory of Lucca and the Fiesole School of Music. He has performed with the Solisti Veneti and other major chamber ensembles.

The program will begin with Musica su due dimensioni by Bruno Maderna, composed in 1963 and scored for flute and magnetic tape. This was the composer's first composition to combine live and recorded sources.

The recital will continue with three works for solo flute, Going Message Air by M. Di Bari, Tutti i colori dell'aria by A. Sbordoni, and Genesi by G. Giani-Luporini. The next work is Due monodie mediterranee by R. A. Luciani.

Marzio Conti

The last work, Oro, argento e legno for flute, alto flute, piccolo, and computer, is by the American composer James Dashow, a 1966 graduate of Princeton University who studied composition with Milton Babbitt, J. K. Randall and Edward Cone. His contribution to electronic music has been the manipulation by computer of electronic pitches to produce different chords and timbres, which then form the basis for his compositions.

The public is invited to attend without charge. For further information, call 258-4239.

Piano Recital Planned By University Student

The Friends of Music at Princeton will present pianist Rachel Matthews in recital on Sunday at 3 at Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall on the Princeton University campus. The program will feature works by Bach, Beethoven and Ravel.

Ms. Matthews, a student of Yeheved Kaplinsky, is a first-year graduate student in musicology at Princeton University. She received her bachelor of music degree from Oberlin Conservatory with majors in musicology and piano performance, while studying with Robert Shannon. At Oberlin, she was the winner of prizes for piano in chamber music and in music history.

The recital will begin with J. S. Bach's English Suite in D Minor, the last suite in a collection of six composed in 1715. These suites, of the late Weimar years, are mature examples of Bach's integration of the Italian and French styles.

The recital will continue with Valses nobles et sentimentales by Maurice Ravel. Written in 1911, this work was later transcribed for orchestra and expanded into a ballet score. The evening will conclude with the Sonata in A-flat Major by Ludwig van Beethoven.

The public is invited to attend without charge. Taplin Auditorium is located in Fine Hall across from Fine Tower, at the corner of Ivy Lane and Washington Road. Parking is available near Palmer Stadium. For further information, call 258-4239.

Pianist to Give Recital At Westminster College

The Westminster Choir College faculty recital series will feature pianist Ena Bronstein Barton on Sunday at 8 in Bristol Chapel.

Ms. Barton will perform a newly-composed work by Harold Zabrack, professor of piano. The Suite for Piano 1989 is a three-part work which is being scored for orchestra as a commissioned work for performance next season. Also on the program will be Chopin's 24 Preludes, Op. 28 and Mozart's Sonata in A Minor.

Ms. Barton's performance career has spanned five continents. Having won a national piano competition in her native Chile, she travelled to New York to study with Claudio Arrau and Rafael de Silva. She made her New York debut at Town Hall and has performed at the Casals Festival and as a soloist at Alice Tully Hall. In 1986 she received the Distinguished Artists Piano Award from Artists International.

Ms. Barton is head of the piano department at Westminster Conservatory and is a lecturer at Westminster Choir College.

Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens. For more information, call 921-2663.

Pioneer of Early Music To Lead Recorder Group

Shelley Gruskin, a pioneer in the revival of early music, will conduct the members of the Princeton Recorder Society on Tuesday, February 27, at 8 at the Kingston Presbyterian Church.

A graduate of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., Mr. Gruskin played with the Rochester Philharmonic and the NBC Opera Company. He joined the New York Pro Musica in 196 and performed with the group for 13 years in the United States, Europe and South America.

Mr. Gruskin was the first to use Renaissance flutes, krummhorns, rauschpfeifes and historical bagpipes in performance. A 15-year member of the Philidor Trio, he was the first in America to perform on an 18th-century flute, thereby capturing the true flavor of baroque music.

Chapin Children Treated To "Peter and the Wolf"

The Kindergarten through fourth grade students of Chapin School on Princeton Pike were treated to a special assembly sponsored by Young Audiences of New Jersey.

The group, a nationally affiliated, nonprofit arts-in-education organization which produces and presents live performing arts programs throughout the state, arranged for the Phoenix Woodwinds to play an adaptation of Prokofiev's Peter And The Wolf written especially for young people. In addition to the music and narration, hats, masks, and stuffed animals were included in the performance. Student participation was also encouraged, and several fourth graders volunteered for the parade of characters: Sonia, the bird; Sasha, the duck; Grandfather; the cat; the wolf; and Peter.

ART

Out of the Mainstream: Nature in Artist's Eyes

In today's superheated art world, young artists of promise can be swept into the glare of the international art stage by the age of 21 and be back in the dust bin before reaching 30. Other artists, of equal or even better abilities, can remain in the shadows for their entire lives. Marguerite Doernbach is in the second category. A 72-year-old Trenton native, she has been translating the world around her into watercolor, oil and acrylic for more than a half century.

Through her long career she's had a go at many of the movements that have appeared on the art scene since the 1930s, from social realism to semi-abstract industrial landscapes. In recent years, she's become an avid hiker and nature enthusiast, and has concentrated her attention on outdoor studies, both in her native state and in the far west.

Featured at AT&T's Corporate Education Center Gallery through March 21 is a series of Pine Barren studies, each portraying one major feature of the area: pitch pines, a river, a waterlily bog, a swamp, laurel in the woods, etc.

Other paintings with New Jersey settings include Silken Wave, a huge, single wave lashing the shore at Atlantic City, and another of a deep ravine near the Delaware Water Gap.

A series of delicate watercolors follows the seasons: the pale yellows and greens of early spring on the English moors; autumn in woods touched by the first snowfall; a rainy summer day painted in soft tones of violet.

Totally different in style are paintings of the Far West. Missing are the numerous dark brushstrokes representing branches and twigs (the "calligraphy of nature" as the artist calls these streaks of black) that dance across the woodsy New Jersey scenes. In the western landscapes the feeling is one of sweeping grandeur, with large blocks of pale colors that give them a shimmering, evanescent quality.

All of the artist's landscapes were experienced on her many hikes, and were first transcribed en route, onto palm-sized bits of canvas board and later translated onto the larger canvases.

Doernbach Retrospective

For a fuller appreciation of the scope of Marguerite Doernbach's career, a visit to Rabbet Gallery in New Brunswick is highly recommended. By coincidence, the gallery is hosting a retrospective of the artist's work that is full of surprises.

The extensive exhibit, which runs through February 17, ranges from a batch of social realist gouaches done in 1939, to the "Biography of a Woman" series, a set of acrylics that celebrate fondly remembered episodes from her family life.

In between are several Post World War II odes to industrial growth, including Turnpike at Newark (1964). This highway — which everyone loves to hate — has never been captured in such vivid style. It is dressed in garish yellows, greens and oranges and crisscrossed hy black slashes that sweep and swoop dizzily across the canvas like a roller coaster headed toward a Manhattan skyline dimly visible in the distance.

A few Western landscapes are also here, along with several of the miniature acrylic preliminaries, which have all the freshness and spontaneity of newly minted watercolors.

The 22 small paintings (each a modest 18" x 12") that constitute "Biography of a Woman" were begun when the artist was approaching 70. Executed in smooth, controlled brushstrokes, they exhibit a serenity that represents a 180 degree turn from the kinetic energy of the earlier industrial landscapes.

Marguerite Doernhach belongs to no particular school. Instead, she has spent a lifetime observing the world around her through her own prism, and selected those things that were important to her to put down nn canvas.

Extraordinary Visions

Jack Blumenthnl, who died in 1987, was perhaps best known to the Princeton community as a veterinarian and founder of the Princeton Animal Hospital. He was nearing 40 when a doctor casually suggested he take up drawing as therapy for occupational stress.

Some of his works can he seen at Magenta Art Gallery in Rocky Hill through February 17.

Working mostly with charcoal and pastel, the body of Blumenthal's work — which could be considered in the "American naif" genre — evokes the dream-like imagery of Marc Chagall and the sexual allusions of Sigmund Freud.

In The Shaman, for instance, a complex web of forms and images — of masks and birds and hodies — dances across a black canvas. The eerie mood is heightened hy the central images — a large white bird hovering over a naked man who has an acutely apprehensive expression on his face.

Carport Collage is a ramshackle assemhlage of icons and images, vaguely erotic in nature, associated in some way with males or females: football trinkets, photos nf bare bosoms, ads for sporty automobiles, torsos of nude dolls, od infinitum.

Far less taxing to the libido is another collage with three large hutterflies surrounded by a horder of international postage stamps featuring butterfly motifs.

Mosaic Panels

"Extravagant" best describes Liz Whitney Quisgard's richly textured mosaic panels, which share the gallery's space in this exhibit. Some of the panels, stippled in thousands of multi-color dots, resemble elegantly patterned quilts. Others, even more elaborate, are a treasure trove of tiny found objects, mounted with painstaking skill on long vertical panels. Buttons, shells, beads, feathers, passementerie, spangles, coins — all are set in place to form intricate and highly colorful arabesques that draw the eye along numernus serpentine pathways.

Each panel stands on its own, but the designs continue from one to another so that the effect can only be fully appreciated when taken together. Since each panel fetches $3600, a five-panel piece such as Bizarre Bazaar will wind up a bit pricey.

Tiger Quintet Now Leads Pack in Race for Ivy Title, And It's Doubtful Anyone Will Be Able to Catch It

If James "Buster" Douglas, a 42-1 shot, can knock out Mike Tyson, then, yes, it is certainly possible the Princeton basketball team will not capture another Ivy League title this season.

The question is: who, from the list of also-rans, will step forward to deny the Tigers their second straight crown? It's difficult to make a case for anyone.

Had the Orange and Black prevented the last-second layup by Penn's Hassan Duncombe in the Palestra, this race really would be over. Instead, after last weekend's action, their lead over the three teams tied for second is one game. Still, giving Pete Carril a game in hand down the stretch is like giving anyone else six.

SPORTS

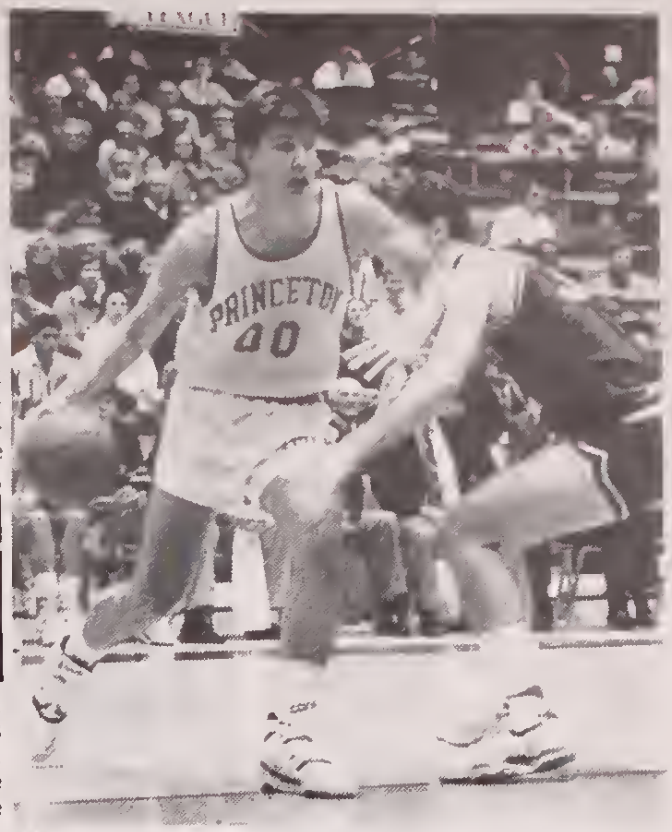
Princeton walloped two would-be challengers in Jadwin last Friday and Saturday, delivering a knock-out punch to Dartmouth. The Big Green, which began the weekend tied for first, lost to Penn in Philadelphia Friday, and should have taken the bus straight to Hanover from there. Its appearance at Jadwin Saturday night was an embarrasing 66-28 defeat.

The previous evening, Carril's troops showed they could beat Harvard at its own run-and-gun game. The final score was 86-73, Princeton's highest total in two years, but the Tigers were up, 61-38, before Carril showed some mercy.

The Crimson managed to regroup and run by the Quakers the next night, dropping them from further consideration this winter. And, it seems the Cantabs, as much as anyone else, deserve the nod as the top challenger in the final six games. However, that's a lukewarm endorsement.

It really only comes because Princeton must play in Cambridge (it clinched last year's title there) 10 days from now on its last road trip. Harvard, meanwhile, has four of its last six on the road, including contests at New Haven and Providence. Ten days ago, it couldn't find a way to beat Brown at home.



MUELLER DRIVES: Kit Mueller, driving past a Dartmouth defender to the basket here, scored a career high 32 points Friday night and added 12 more against the Big Green Saturday. (Chris Panum photo)

The Bruins and Yale, the other two pretenders to the throne, will be here this Friday and Saturday night, respectively, with the games beginning at 7:30 in Jadwin. Princeton will be favored by double digits both nights. Since both must also play Penn in the Palestra, they could be all but mathematically eliminated by the time they head home.

Carril is cautious about both, and he certainly has reason to be. He's seen too many inexplicable one-point losses in the league the past few seasons. The Elis sneaked by Princeton at New Haven last month on a last-second basket. The Tigers handled Brown on its own court, 64-53.

Matt Eastwick, who suffered a concussion against Harvard, and missed the Dartmouth game, will be back. And while Mike Tyson was slow and obviously overconfident, you can bet Carril will have his players ready to go.

Harvard Jinx Broken

Jinx may be too strong a word for a two-game streak, but how else to explain why Harvard had beaten Princeton in Jadwin the past two years. In the early moments, it looked like the Crimson might do it again.

Led by Ralph James, who finished with a career-high 35 points, the visitors raced to an 8-0 lead. The tempo was quick, the kind favored by Crimson coach Peter Roby, but the Orange and Black soon picked it up.

Kit Mueller, who had his own career night with 32 points, began to answer, and the Tigers claimed the lead for good, 16-15, a few minutes later. James couldn't do it all for the Crimson, and Mueller didn't have to for Princeton. When Sean Jackson began to hit from the outside (he finished with 22), the Tigers began to pull away. Harvard played a decent first half, but still trailed, 46-32.

Princeton poured it on in the second half, leading by 23 at the point that Eastwick was cut down from behind by a Harvard player as he slammed home a basket. Harvard then closed the gap to a more respectable 13 points by the end.

Accuracy from the field was the difference in this one. Breaking Harvard's press repeatedly, Princeton hit one layup after another and shot 32 of 51 (63 percent) from the field. The Tigers took only five three-point shots, sinking two. The Cantabs fired up 18 from beyond the stripe, making half, but were less accurate from closer range. They hit just 20 of 52, for 38 percent.

Dartmouth Missing Two

The next night Dartmouth, minus both James Blackwell (knee) and big man Walt Palmer (back spasms), was in no position to give Old Nassau much of a contest. It got off to a promising start, and trailed by just three, 10-7, early, but managed just 21 more points the rest of the night. The points were the fewest scored by a Princeton opponent since 1984 when Columbia lost in Jadwin, 34-28.

Behind by that 10-7 count, Dartmouth hit just one basket in the first half. Using the three-point shot this time (seven of eight in the first half), the Tigers turned this one into a rout, and led 28-9 at intermission.

Five more points to open the second half gave the Tigers a 33-9 lead, before the Big Green broke a scoring drought of more than 10 minutes. That drew the biggest cheer of the night from the crowd of 4,281.

Here's an amazing fact ... There was once a big league baseball player who stole 30 bases and scored 33 runs but never came to bat! ... That player was Herb Washington who played for the Oakland A's in 1974 and 1975 ... He was a former track star who was signed to be just a pinch-runner ... In his two-year big league career, he appeared in 104 games, never batted, but scored 33 runs.

That was the highlight of a second half that saw Carril clear his bench early in this ho-hum affair.

It also spread the scoring around to every Princeton player but one. Jackson was four-for-four on three-point shots, and now has a streak of 12 consecutive field goals over three games. His 12 points made him high scorer for the night; Mueller and Lapin had nine apiece.

Tiger Hockey Loses Two; Drops to Seventh Place

Score seven goals a game, and you should be able to win. Lead by 7-1 in the third period in one game, and you should have a virtual lock on a victory. Unfortunately, neither seven goals nor a 7-1 lead was enough for the Princeton hockey team last weekend.

Losing to both RPI and Vermont by 9-7 scores, and blowing the 7-1 advantage against the latter, the Tigers fell into seventh place in the ECAC standings. They are now 8-9-1 in the league, 9-12-1 overall. Consequently, the playoff picture for the Orange and Black got a lot clearer and poorer at the same time.

Home-ice advantage for the quarter-final round, that long-held (admittedly a long shot from the start) dream, is all but ended. The Orange and Black is five points out of fourth place with just four games left.

Indeed, coach Jim Higgins' skaters may need to win three of their last four to finish in fifth or sixth place. That would put them on the road in the quarter-finals, but at least they would avoid the preliminary round that teams finishing seventh through 10th must engage in Tuesday, February 27. The quarter-final round is the following weekend.

The two home games this weekend will go a long way in determining Princeton's fate. It will face Clarkson Friday and St. Lawrence Saturday, with the opening face-off for both set for 7:30. Early this week, just a few tickets remained for both games, insuring that both would be sold out by game time. It's alumni weekend at the University.

The Tigers are capable of beating both the Golden Knights and the Saints; they proved that in December when they knocked off both on a memorable trip to northern New York. However, after the total collapse against Vermont, it will be difficult to pick themselves up from two losses last weekend and duplicate the feat.

The final regular-season games on February 23 and 24 will find the Orange and Black on the road against Brown and Yale.

Katy, Bar the Door!

In the lowlights of their recent hockey history, the Tigers have experienced some disastrous third periods, but Saturday night's surpasses them all. After Kevin Sullivan's second goal of the game gave Princeton a 7-1 lead 1:04 into the third, it was 'Katy, bar the door' for the Tigers.

A 5-11-2 Vermont sextet that had been hlanked 3-0 by Army the previous evening, suddenly began to turn things around. And the Orange and Black, which had dominated for the first two periods, was powerless on either offense or defense to do anything about it. "It was a fecling of panic, more than anything else," commented Mark Khozozian.

Working with makeshift lines because of injuries and a one-game suspension, the Catamounts scored six goals in the next 13 minutes. The tying score came at the 14:10 mark, the winning score at 16:58, and the final goal into an empty net with 12 seconds left. In reality, the Tigers' net had been empty far longer.

Goalie Ron High, who had a commendable first two periods, after allowing RPI nine goals the night before, gave up four quick scores to allow Vermont to pull within two at 7-5. At this point Higgins had seen enough, and inserted Mark Salisbury into the nets.

He liked what he saw in Salisbury even less. After a shot from the red line clanged off the post hehind Salisbury, Higgins took advantage of a stoppage of play to reinsert High, before any more damage could be done.

At this point, however, with Princeton in total disarray, it didn't matter. High gave up Vermont's sixth goal just 21 seconds after play resumed, and the tying goal less than a minute later.

Exit High; enter Salisbury, again. He managed to hold off the Catamounts for a couple of minutes, but egged on by a vociferous crowd, they soon put in the winning tally. Together High and Salisbury faced nine shots in the third period, seven got by them.

However, blame must be passed around to everyone. Forechecking was almost non-existent during this span, defensive coverage poor, and the offense mustered just four shots.

The loss wasted two decent periods of hockey, which saw Old Nassau score seven times after falling behind 1-0. In addition to Sullivan's pair, Mark Khozozian scored twice, Andre Faust, Brian Bigelow and Tom Shimabukuro, once apiece. Three of the scores came on four power-play opportunities.

The previous night, presented a reverse scenario. Princeton played poorly for two periods against RPI, falling behind 6-2. In the third it put on a furious rally to close to 8-7, but the Engineers tallied an empty-net goal with 1:09 to lock up the contest.

Goals by Sullivan and Faust in the first put the Orange and Black behind by just 3-2 at the end of the first 20 minutes. In the second the home team tallied three unanswered goals. Khozozian led the third-period charge with two goals and two assists, and Greg Polaski tallied the final pair, bringing the Tigers to within one with 5:54 left. Murphy had the other goal, and Faust was credited with four assists.

It all went for naught, and co-captain Sullivan was left to point out the obvious shortcoming that has dogged Princeton hockey for decades. "We didn't put a whole game together either night, and that killed us."

Amen.

PHS 6th in Mat Tourney; Mansier Second at 145

With Larry Mansier finishing second in the 145-pound class and three other Little Tiger wrestlers winning consolation bouts, the Princeton High mat team finished sixth in the team standings in the Mercer County Wrestling Torunament held during the weekend at Trenton High. Nottingham edged out Lawrenceville School to finish first among the 15 participating teams.

"I was very pleased with what we did," commented PHS coach Matt Wilkinson. "We placed sixth again, the same as last year, and, while that is something you can't be satisfied with, I think with the group we have — only two seniors — that we will be a team to be reckoned with next year." The Little Tiger depth has dropped to 15 this year but Wilkinson reports that he knows of six quality freshmen coming in. "Finally, the talent is starting to dribble in; we're getting kids who know how to wrestle. I think things are only going to get better," he predicted."

Mansier Is Second

Larry Mansier, the Little Tigers' best hope for an individual title, finished second in this tournament last year. This year, he was seeded second in the 145-pound class behind Greg Gronostajski of Notre Dame.

Mansier advanced through the preliminary round with a technical fall and a pin in 2:40 in the quarter-finals. In the semi-finals, Mansier pinned Ben Roman of Trenton in 5:02. Roman had scored an upset in the class when he won a 13-5 decision over third-seeded Mark Carroll of Lawrenceville.

In the championship finals, Mansier lost a 9-6 decision to Gronostajski. Although he acknowledged Mansier was "beaten fair and square," Wilkinson termed his loss a disappointment. "I'd have to say Larry did not wrestle at all up to his ability. You have to go out aggressively, and he waited until the last 30 seconds to score all his points. There was not enough time. It's sad but this is where you learn."

PHS had three wrestlers reach the consolation round and all won, to finish third. Princeton's Vincent Franze defeated fourth-seeded Mark Floyd of Notre Dame, 10-5, at 103 pounds; Adam Basatemur defeated Mark Karas of Hamilton, 8-3, at 135 pounds, and Will Dickerson defeated Rob Goleniecki of Steinert, 9-7, at heavyweight. Goleniecki was a runner up in this event last year.

In addition, Princeton's Matt Curran won a 4-1 decision to finish in fifth place. What impressed Wilkinson is that all four defeated opponents they had lost to previously.

"All came back. That's the type of improvement you like to see. It's something you can measure." Franze and Curran are juniors, Basatemur a sophomore.

Romain Is Injured

Princeton's Guy Romain had to default his quarter-final bout with third-seeded Andy Quinn of Lawrenceville.

Romain was in a down position and tried to counter a move by Quinn, Wilkinson said, when their heads came together. Romain's head, he said, was split open and they had to rush him to a hospital emergency room where 13 sutures were needed to close the wound.

Romain was seeded to do well, remarked Wilkinson. "Since it happened in the first 45 seconds, it's hard to tell what the outcome of their match would have been.

Lawrenceville had entered the championship round with the most wrestlers — five — but only one won: top-seeded Win Truong, who captured the 103-pound title. Ewing's Wayne Porter, who won the 152-pound crown with a pin over Nottingham's Tom Agugliaro, was named the tournament's Oustanding Wrestler.

Noting that Lawrenceville's coach, Tom Murray, was not too happy with the outcome of the tournament, Wilkinson said he hopes his team can add to Murray's woes when they face the Big Red-team this Wednesday in their final regular-season match of the year. The meet will be held at the PHS gym, starting at 3.

Hun School Not a Factor

Knowing that most of his inexperienced team was not ready for MCT, Hun coach Jim Nehlig entered only a few of his wrestlers.

The one with the best chance of advancing, Andy Nelson, was eliminated in the quarter-finals when he lost an exciting, 7-6 decision to Hamilton's Tom Dymowski in their 140-pound match. Nelson had scored a 45-second pin in the preliminary round.

Like PHS, Hun will end its regular season this Wednesday, when it opposes Lawrence High at 6:30 in the Cardinals' gym. In its only match last week, Hun was battered by perennial prep power Blair Academy, 51-6. Hun's only points came off a forfeit win in the opening bout.

Graves Second in Mile

Princeton High junior Christina Graves ran the mile of her life Sunday.

At the Group II New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association Girls' Indoor Track Championships held in Princeton University's Jadwin Gym, Graves almost made up a half-lap deficit to finish second in the mile event. Graves's time of 5:33.1 was just a second behind the winning time of 5:32.2 posted by Carrie Thompson of Clearview. Princeton, the defending Group II champions, finished fourth in a four-way tie with Clearview, Caldwell and A.L. Johnson. Each school had nine points. Asbury Park won the team standings with 19.

Princeton's Ailey Penningroth finished fourth in the shotput with a toss of 33-2, bettering her previous best by five feet. Teammate Kim Crusey also ran the 400 three seconds faster than she ever had before to finish fourth in that event with a time of 2:28.9.

Kesti Ringland of PHS, who finished fourth in the 55 dash last year with a time of 7.5, had to settle for 7.6 this winter and fifth place.

It's Unbearable But True PHS Swimmers Lose by 1

The Princeton High girls' swimming team, winners of the Valley Division in the CVC for the first time, seeded No. 3 in the Central Jersey 'B' NJSIAA state competition where it will meet second-seeded Rumson-Fair Haven in the second round, the PHS swim team that seemed certain to end West Windsor's domination in the Mercer County Championship on Saturday, had to taste the bitter along with the sweet.

Despite some outstanding individual performances, including a new meet record by sophomore Ashley Dixon who was voted the Most Valuable Swimmer, the Little Tigers failed — by one point — to win the Mercer County Championship title. West Windsor edged the Little Tigers, 222-221, to win the crown for the fifth consecutive year and for the eighth time in the last 11. PHS has been the runner up the past five years.

The County boys' competition was dominated again by West Windsor, who spread-eagled the opposition. The Pirates were almost 100 points better than second-place Hightstown, winning the team title 280 to 189. PHS, which failed to win a single individual title, was third at 135.

Dixon was superb for PHS in the girls' competition. She set a new meet record of 1:01.82 in the 100 backstroke, breaking her own record of 1:01.96 set last year, and she won the 100 butterfly in 1:01.62, to edge longtime West Windsor standout Mary Beth Hughes who was timed in 1:02.84.

PHS freshman Christine Jensen was equally impressive. She flashed to victory in the 50 freestyle in 25.57 to nip teammate Kate Howe (26.27). Her performance in the 500 free was even more reverberating. In that taxing event, she found a burst of energy on the last lap to upset Hun School's Meg Lontai. A victor in the 200 free for her fifth career MCT title, Lontai could not match Jensen stroke for stroke on the final lap. "I was surprised I beat her," said Jensen, who admitted, "I really wanted to win." Jensen was timed in 5:19.18, Lontai in 5:19.47.

There were more firsts by PHS. Senior Danielle Devereux won the 100 free with a time of 56.48 and then teamed with Howe, Robin Meray, and Jensen to win the final event, the 400 free relay in 3:53.03. West Windsor was a distant second in 4:00.07. That second place was all the Pirates needed, however, to edge PHS. Going into the relay, WW held a seven-point advantage.

Overall, PHS won six of ten events but, in the end, it could not overcome the Pirates' depth. It was a reprise of their meeting during the regular season where PHS again claimed the most first-place finishes but still bowed to the Pirates' depth, 87-85.

"Maybe," sighed Dixon, "we'll win next year."

In the boys' competition, Scott Petrone of PHS was second in the 100 backstroke and third in the 100 butterfly. Gordon Fraser of PHS was second to Hun's Chip Lontai in the 200 IM. Fraser was timed in 2:07.26, Lontai in 2:05.06.

Steinert's Chris Morris, a victor in the 50 and 100 freestyle events, was named the boys' Most Valuable Swimmer.

final period, including five straight near the end of the game, to lead the Little Tigers to a 55-50 victory over Hamilton. The win, following a 63-50 loss to Lawrence earlier in the week, left the Blue and White with a 3-18 record and a psychological boost: last year PHS won only twice.

PHS was scheduled to end its regular season this week against Nottingham but that is not the end for the Little Tigers. Coach Doug Snyder confirmed that PHS will compete in the annual Mercer County Tournament that starts Monday.

"My colleagues are asking me, 'You're losing, why prolong the season?' " reported Snyder. "But myself and all the players are excited about playing in the tournament. They want to play as much basketball as they can."

Sndyer conceded that PHS will be seeded at the bottom and that it will draw one of the top-seeded teams in the opening round — quite probahly Hun School.

The thought doesn't deter him, even though PHS was a 92-65 loser to Hun this season. "We have nothing to lose," said Snyder. "We'll come up with a game plan and try to win a ball game."

Satisfying Win

The win over Hamilton was especially satisfying not only because it ended the long victory drought but because it came in the final period which the Little Tigers had begun trailing 39-33. "It's the first time we came back to take a lead," said Snyder. "Early in the season we came back before, but it just wasn't enough.".

White, he said, played a nice floor game. In addition to his 22 points and final-period heroics, White had five steals and dished out six assists. "Ite did some nice things for us down the stretch," agreed Snyder.

With less than two minutes to play and the outcome up for grabs, White converted both ends of a 1-and-1, then stole the hall and hit for a three-pointer. "Those five points were the difference," said Synder.

One good thing about the win, observed Snyder, "it says we haven't quit; we haven't packed it in. It shows the attitude has been positive, the enthusiasm hasn't waned. It's a good sign."

The rest of the PHS scoring against Hamilton was spread among seven other players. Taron Conover had eight points, Brian Williams seven and Ben Stentz six. Ali Ashraf, Khalil Abdul-Karim, Evan Moorhead and Scott Simmons combined for the rest.

Lawrence High placed four in double figures to defeat PHS, 63-50, earlier in the week. The Cardinals led, 32-17, at halftime. PHS cut five points off that lead in the third period but could get no closer.

Conover with 14 points and Williams with 11 accounted for half of Princeton's points. White added seven and Simmons and Abdul-Karim six each.

A Solid Season's Finale For PHS Hockey Team

The end of regular-season play came to a most satisfying end Monday for the Princeton Iligh ice-hockey team and its high scorer, Mike Precheur.

Precheur scored a hat trick to lead the Little Tigers to a 5-1 victory over slumping Hopewell Valley, as PHS ended its regular-season play with a solid, 9-2-2 record. The PHS senior linesman now has 18 goals for the season and eight assists.

The Little Tigers were denied outright ownership of the Valley Division title in the Colonial Valley Conference, however, when they lost to Lawrence, 3-1, in their previous outing. They and the Cardinals will share the title, if Lawrence also wins its last game.

Still, the season is far from over for Princeton. It will be one of eight teams competing in the Mercer County Tournament that begins this week at Mercer Rink and it has qualified for the State tournament which starts February 26. The Little Tigers have come a long way in their second year of varsity competition under coach Howie Rubenstein.

Rubenstein had to be satisfied with the play of his team against Hopewell and he was. He was especially pleased, he said, with the performance of Precheur and the steady, smart play of Russ Levine, who anchors the Little Tiger defense.

Precheur gave PtIS a 1-0 lead in the first period when he backhanded the puck past Rob Landolina, the sprawled HV goalie. Landolina had saved a shot by Princeton's Jordan Crane but could not control it.

Precheur made it 2-0 with his tip-in of a shot by Levine in the second period, and he scored Princeton's final goal in the third period. In between, Karsten Hilpert and Alex Klein scored for the Blue and White as PHS outshot the Bulldogs, 2t-9. Sophomore goalie Angus Guberman had eight saves.

Last week, Lawrence combined a smothering defense and some outstanding goaltending by Liz Hill to shut down the Little Tigers, 3-1.

The Cardinals' Jim Schaff sealed the win when he scored with three minutes left to put the victors up, 3-1. In the second period, Princeton's Josh Novak had sliced Lawrence's lead in half when he scored his third goal of the season on a five-foot shot.

Princeton had one more shot on goal than Lawrence, 33 to 32, but Hill, in controlling the rebounds and cutting down the angles, turned aside 32 of them. "We really wanted this game," said the sophomore net tender.

PHS goalie Eric Stiff was credited with 29 saves.

Hornets Sting Hun In Girls' Basketball

A taller Hamilton High team outscored the Hun girls' basketball team in every period last week for a 56-41 victory and its 13th win of the season. Hun suffered its fourth loss in its last six games and fell to 11-8.

"Their height just killed us," said second-year Hun coach Dennis Lepold.

Hun will end its regular season play this Wednesday evening at 7 against Hopewell High in Pennington.

Hamilton made the most of getting second and third shots to take a 15-9 first period lead and never trailed. Hun was led by sophomore Becky Jensen who hit for 16 points and by Kristi Kungl who added 10. Hun's Bonnie Lepold was held to six points — her season's low.

PDS Hockey Team Captures Another Prep B Title

Unlike Bo (Jackson), Allen Bourbeau knows hockey. The only question when the Harvard and Olympic all-star signed on to coach the Princeton Day team was, could he pass on his knowledge to the players.

Given his obvious talent, it didn't take Bourbeau long to gain their respect at the start of the season. And last Saturday, when the Panthers defeated Morristown-Beard, 2-1, for the Prep B championship, it was obvious they had learned a thing or two as well.

At the start of the season, Princeton Day had little trouble blowing by the usual line-up of area high schools. But it lost the one evenly matched contest it had. Morristown-Beard defeated the Panthers 5-2 on their own ice, scoring three unanswered goals in the third period.

Since returning from Christmas vacation, PDS has played well against stronger competition in every game except Lawrenceville. When Mo-Beard showed up again for the Prep B finals, Bourbeau's boys were ready.

PDS put in a solid 45 minutes of hockey at both ends of the rink. So often in the past it had relied on its offensive talents to outscore the opposition. But this time, faced with a fine Morristown goalie who turned away one thrust after another, the Panthers needed to play good defense as well.

They got it from defensemen Mark Trowbridge, Joel Totten, Judd Henderson and Tim Babbitt, who together with the forwards played a disciplined, hardhitting game that rarely allowed the visitors to get open in front of the net. PDS also got solid goaltending from Jamie Francomano, who made one mistake, but came up with big saves every other time, to preserve the one-goal margin of victory.

SUPERB IN GOAL: Jamie Francomano stopped all but one of the 19 shots that came his way.

Two Early Goals Enough

Princeton Day began applying the pressure early in the first period, and it paid off with a pair of goals with 8:34 and 5:52 left. On both occasions, the Panthers cashed in on power play opportunities.

———

The first time forward Steve Eaton's pass from the right side found Ara Baronian wide open in the center of the MB zone. He skated in and beat goalie Vince Martino on the short side for a 1-0 lead. Trowbridge also was credited with an assist.

Three minutes later with PDS a man up again, Charlie Baker sent a centering pass from the left boards right in front of the goal. Baronian took a shot, and when two Crimson defenders tried to take him out of the play, Eaton was free to slap in the rebound.

It could have turned into a one-sided affair at this point, but Martino turned away every shot thereafter, stopping Baronian numerous times after that. He made 27 saves in all.

The second period proved scoreless, setting the stage for a tense 15 minutes in the third. With 9:27 left, a Crimson player fired a shot from outside the blue line that seemed to catch Francomano unaware. The puck hit the bottom of his stick, pushing it back, and slid underneath into the goal.

Thereafter, Morristown made several attempts to tie the score, but PDS held on, helped by a determined defense and some fine saves by Francomano. He finished with 18 for the afternoon.

Earlier last week, PDS rolled over a weak Hopewell Valley team, 11-8. The score was not indicative of the one-sided nature of the game, but rather some inept PDS goaltending in the third period.

On Monday, with several of their top players held out to make for a more even contest, the Panthers knocked off Pingry, 4-1. The team now sports a fine 11-4 record.

Only one game awaits the Panthers this week, a contest with Academy of New Church. That will be a laugher as well. Bishop Egan will be in the following Wednesday, February 21, and then it's tournament time. Moses Brown, Brunswick and St. Mary's are the invitees this winter.

PDS Boys' Basketball Wins Three More Games

A pair of regular season victories, plus a win in the first round of the Prep B has given the Princeton Day basketball team a four-game winning streak as the season winds down. Its record is now 11-5.

The Panthers, who defeated St. Joseph's, 74-23, Montclair-Kimberley, 43-32, and Rutgers Prep, 79-66, have just one regular season contest left. That will be against Steinert this Wednesday.

But the bigger contest will come Saturday. The triumph over Rutgers Prep put the sixth-seeded Blue and White into the quarterfinals against Dwight Englewood. The game will be played at Dwight, the number three seed. Pennington is seeded first, Newark Academy, second.

Without the constraint of classes, PDS should consider a very early bus trip to the north Jersey school on Saturday. The minimum 90-minute ride has always taken a lot out of every Panther team, boys or girls, that has gone there to play. Coach Maura Kelly found out how tough it was to win there in December, when PDS lost by two points, 44-42. It was a game her team could have won, and if incentive counts for anything, her boys will have it Saturday.

They had no trouble Monday knocking off Rutgers Prep for the second time, but the victory did not leave Kelly smiling. The contest was wide open with neither team playing much defense. "Our defense is our team and we didn't play it," Kelly commented."

PDS rolled to a 23-8 lead in the first quarter, led by Chris jones who tallied 31 points. The Panthers extended each of the next two periods, and went ahead 67-42 at the end of three. However the Argonauts managed to cut the deficit in half by the end of the game. Reed followed with 21 points, Harvey Bradley added 14 and David Wise, 10.

Last Friday's contest against MKA was a struggle against a taller opponent, but the Panthers finally wore out the visitors in the fourth period. Trailing 28-27, PDS rallied for 16 points in the final eight minutes, and limited Montclair to just four.

Gary Moore's jump shot at the start put PDS ahead, 30-28, and it never looked back. Reed was a strong force under the boards, collecting seven rebounds. Jones led all scorers with 14 points.

When the two schools met in January, the count was 65-25. Last week, PDS upped the margin to almost 50 points in routing poor St. Joseph's, which has won only once in 13 attempts.

Knowing this would be a blow out, the Panthers ho-hummed their way through the first quarter, leading just 12-7 Thereafter, they poured it on. Kelly cleared her bench early in this one, and every player scored at least one basket.

Jones led with 27 points, Reed followed with 12, and Wise, Moore and Wesley Robinson tallied six apiece.

PDS Girls' Hockey Ties Beacon Hill Club, 1-1

The Princeton Day girls' hockey team gave a good indication of how much it has improved this winter when it tied a strong Beacon Hill Club team, 1-1, Monday night at home. The previous day PDS defeated Penn, 5-3, to up its record to 7-1-1.

The biggest game of the season will be this Wednesday when the Blue and White takes on Lawrenceville at home. The season's final game will come Saturday, February 24 against Chevy Chase Club.

The Panthers opened their season playing Beacon Hill away, and were outplayed in a 3-0 defeat. This time, coach Meg Bailey's girls matched Beacon Hill stride for stride through three periods, and almost carried off a victory.

The first two periods saw both teams produce numerous chances, but the goalies, Beth Kahora and her Beacon Hill counterpart, played exceptionally well. Finally, in the third period, Liz Bylin, who had almost slipped through the visitors' defense on several occasions, scored on a breakaway to give the Blue and White a 1-0 lead.

Beacon Hill almost got the tying goal a few minutes later, but defenseman Christie Fulmer made a diving save to prevent the puck from sliding into an open net. However, with just 1:21 left, the tying goal was scored on the rebound of another shot.

On Sunday, PDS spotted Penn an early 1-0 lead, but came back to tie midway through the first period on the first of Jenny Myers' three goals. It was the first time this she Myers scored a hat trick

The last three minutes of the first period saw a flurry of action. Myers scored her second for a 2-1 lead, the Quakers knotted the count at two apiece, and freshman Britte Lynam put PDS ahead to stay.

"It was pretty clear by the end of the first period that we were in control," coach Meg Bailey commented.

In the second stanza, another freshman, Katherine Koster, put PDS ahead 4-2, and Myers registered her third for a 5-2 advantage. Penn scored the only goal of the third period. Goalie Beth Kahora, recovering from a strep throat, had a decent game.

TWO FOR JONES: Princeton Day's Chris Jones hit for two on this lay-up in the first period of Friday's game with Montclair-Kimberley. He finished with 14 points to lead the Panthers to a 43-32 triumph.

Hun Is Seeded Second In State Prep Tourney

The Hun School basketball team defeated Hamilton, 75-54, Friday for its 21st victory in 23 starts this year but a loss to Lawrenceville School two days earlier cost the Raiders the top seeding in the upcoming state prep school tournament.

Hun is seeded No. 2 in the NJISAA Class A state basketball tourney and will face third-seeded St. Benedict's next Wednesday, the 21st, at 5 at a site to be announced. Hun defeated St. Benedict's, 71-58, earlier this season.

As a result of its 67-57 victory over Hun last week, Lawrenceville School has drawn the top seed in the tournament and an opening round bye. The Larries currently have a 9-4 record.

In the eight-day Mercer County Tournament, however, Hun coach Kevin Long says that he expects Hun to be seeded No. 1 since the seedings are based strictly on a team's winning percentage. That tourney begins on Friday.

Hun, said Long, will probably be awarded an opening round bye. He estimates 12 to 13 teams will participate in the event this year.

Off to Fast Start

Against visiting Hamilton Friday, Hun jumped off to a commanding 17-0 start and a 31-10 lead after the first eight minutes of play. "We played awfully well the first five or six minutes but we became kind of lackadaisical after that," recalled Long. "We did what we had to do to win the game."

Long was far from satisfied with the Raiders' overall effort. "We have really played hard all year with a lot of intensity; I didn't see that Friday," he said.

Long and some team members felt part of the answer was the absence of Mike D'Allegro, who has been forced to sit out two games. The post graduate student and a 1,000-point scorer at Montgomery High, D'Allegro was whistled for committing an intentional flagrant foul in the previous game with Lawrenceville.

"Mike has been our intensity leader," said Long. "He comes on every day. Whether in a game or practice, he brings other kids to that level." Through muscle and determination and a refusal to be denied when he has the ball around the basket, D'Allegro has scored 280 points for a 13.3 average per game and is tenth among the prep school scoring leaders.

Hun's sophomore guards, RaShawne Glenn and Deon Hames, paced Hun with 20 and 18 points. Greg Cygan, the league's leading scorer with an 18.7 average, who was held to nine points in the loss to Lawrenceville, regained his offensive form and netted 17 points.

Hun connected on two of every three shots it took from the floor in the first half when it built a 46-25 lead. Hamilton, which dipped to 5-15 with the loss, had three players who scored 14 points apiece: Matt Waldron, Mike Brown and Charles Upshur.

Triangle and Two

As for the loss to Lawrenceville, Long reported that he knew the Larries were good so the 10-point loss was not a surprise. For certain, it was disappointing, he allowed.

"They did a few things. They played a triangle-and-two on Greg and Deon which we were unprepared for. That took us by surprise. And they outrebounded us." Actually, the visiting Big Red was twice as effective on the boards as Hun, outrebounding the Raiders, 46-21.

Late in the game, Hun came within one point of the lead and had the ball but could not get the go-ahead basket. "We lost our offensive composure," said Long.

With 39 seconds left in the game, Lawrenceville's Jeff Clancey was en route to a breakaway layup when he was pushed from behind by D'Allegro. It definitely was an intentional foul, conceded Long, but he pointed out that D'Allegro then grabbed Clancey's jersey in a protective move. "No one was on the floor."

Glenn and Hames again led Hun with 17 points each. D'Allegro ended with seven and Ted Curvy had six points.

Doug Stewart, the Larries 6-7 center, paced Lawrenceville with 14 points and 12 rebounds.

AND TWO FROM FOSTER: Meanwhile, in the upstairs gym, Princeton Day's other scoring machine, Sarah Foster, was leading the girls with 20 points, including two here. PDS walloped Peddie, 54-28.

PDS Girls' Basketball Has Post-Season Game

The Princeton Day girls' basketball team has ended its regular season with a flourish.

Two more victories last week, 54-28 over Peddie, and 56-21 over Rutgers Prep, have enabled the Panthers to finish their regular season with five consecutive victories. That translates into a fine 11-6 record.

However, coach Jill Thomas' girls find themselves just where they were a year ago, and they would like to do better this time. Last season they finished 11-4, but suffered that last defeat (38-28) at the hands of Mt. Saint Dominick in the quarterfinals of the Prep A tournament.

Guess where fifth-seeded PDS is headed this Saturday? Back to Caldwell for another Prep A quarterfinal contest with Mt. Saint Dominick. The Blue and White has a decent chance to come out on top this time; it lost to the Mountain Lions by just two points, 30-28, there in December.

PDS had no trouble with Rutgers Prep Monday in New Brunswick. The game was over after the first quarter when the Panthers outscored the Argonauts, 22 to 4. It was bench-clearing time for coach Jill Thomas soon after that, but the rout continued. PDS led 38-8 at the half. Sarah Foster led with 22 points, Timory Howe had 16, and Julie Howard, 10.

Friday, Peddie was also blown away early. The visiting Falcons could manage just 10 points in the first two quarters, while PDS piled up 31. Foster tallied 20, pulled down nine rebounds and added 11 steals. She got superb support from Howe who had 17 points and 21 rebounds, and Sarah Berkman who had 11 points.

Davidson's Wins Pair In Dillon Basketball

There was a lot of action last week in the Dillon Basketball League. In the senior division, Davidson's Supermarket gained its first win hy defeating Princeton Hardware, 29-27. Larry McEwen led Davidson's with 10 points, while Bram Reynolds had 22 for Princeton Hardware. Princeton Day School used a big third quarter to defeat Princeton Mortgage, 59-32, as Mark Jones led the balanced attack with 15 points and Scott Feldman and Dan Ragsdale added 10 each. Marquis Johnson paced the Mortgagemen with 14 points.

In another game Davidson's Supermarket collected its second two-point win with a 25-23 victory over Princeton Mortgage. Kalvin Wilson tossed in 13 points for the winners and Marquis Johnson led the losers with 13. Reynolds scored 28 points to lead Princeton Hardware to a 44-29 win against Princeton Youth Sports. Geoff Spies led Youth Sports with 11 points and Ty Wade added 10.

In the junior division, Mason, Griffin & Pierson defeated Church & Dwight, 26-19, sparked by Justin Henderson and Marcel Lemar who had 10 points apiece. Commodities Corporation earned its first victory with a 24-12 decision over H. Gross Outfitters. Jamie Bernhard was high for the winners with 10 points.

W. Jason Morgan, Knox Taylor Professor of Geography at Princeton University, has been named a recipient of the 1990 Japan Prize in the field of earth science.

Prof. Morgan and two other researchers, Dan McKenzie of Cambridge University in England and Xavier Le Pichon of the College de France in Paris, received the prize for their work in the initiation and development of the theory of plate tectonics. The award was announced in Tokyo by its sponsor, the Science and Technology Foundation of Japan.

In addition, Marvin L. Minsky of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was awarded the prize in the field of technology of integration for his work in artificial intelligence. Prof. Minsky, who earned a Ph.D. in mathematics at Princeton in 1954, is Toshiba Professor of Media Arts and Sciences in M.I.T.'s Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science.

The Science and Technology Foundation of Japan makes awards in two scientific disciplines each year. Considered the most prestigious scientific honor given in Japan, the prize carries a cash award of 50 million yen (approximately $345,000) in each category.

In 1967 Prof. Morgan became the first to propose that the surface of the earth was formed of rigid spherical caps or plates whose motion is governed by rules that are now called plate tectonics. The theory is now central to the understanding of volcanos, earthquakes, continental drift, mountain building, and the structure of oceanic and continental crusts.

He currently is studying applications of new techniques that yield measurements of distances between points thousands of kilometers apart. Rates and patterns of plate deformation should yield knowledge of the mechanical properties of the plates and the stresses that drive them.

mittee on Monday decided to put this amount in the Township's legal expenses.

There could be expenses for the Borough-banked Health Commission as a result of lawsuits that may arise from recent personnel disputes. Would these come under Borough legal expenses or shared Health Commission expenses? When it was pointed out that litigation costs are borne by the municipality involved, Mr. Reed asked if this meant that the Planning Board's rejection of Princeton University's garage, located in the Borough, would be an expense for the Borough.

"Perhaps the Planning Board should come to Borough Council to indicate how far it intends to go with this litigation," Mr. Reed suggested.

In addition to some badly needed office furniture for the planning director, the Planning Board is seeking $38,700 to undertake studies it believes important. One calls for $23,000 to be paid to Garmen Associates for a study of traffic impacts of the proposed Scudders Mill overpass to Route 1 and those of potential development in the area of the overpass

A second calls for $5,450 to be paid to WRT planning consultants for a study of how the floor-area ratio is applied in residential areas, particularly in the Township. And the third calls for a study of the environmental impacts of paving over developable land. From the discussion Saturday, it seemed that Committee members as well as Council members questioned the need for these studies in a difficult tax year.

Mr. Pascale suggested that they be financed by a special emergency appropriation over a five-year period, starting in 1991. Such an appropriation would be outside the "caps" (state-imposed ceiling on municipal operating budget), and, not being bonded, would not add to the debt costs. No decision was made, but it was noted that budget problems could be worse in 1991, '92 and '93.

The entire board of the Princeton Public Library came to lend support to Library Director Jackie Thresher's plea for full funding. The Library is requesting $1,228,888, an increase of almost 15 percent over what it was granted in 1989. But the Township and Borough administrators, Mr. Pascale and Mark Gordon, are recommending holding the increase at 8.7 percent, or $1,061,460 total — $61,428 less than the Library has asked for.

"There is no fat in the budget request we submitted," Ms. Thresher stated. "Last year we had to cut staff, operating hours, materials and services as well as most of the large maintenance jobs done annually by outside contractors (such as carpet, window and curtain cleaning) because of the $53,753 difference between what we requested and what was allocated

"The budget we submitted this year restores some, but not all, of these cuts. If we receive $61,428 less than we have requested this year we will not only be unable to restore any of last year's cuts, we will have to make additional ones." Removing municipal funds for library materials ($12,000) was mentioned as the first step, followed by cutting parttime staff hours ($40,000), which in turn would mean cuts in service at the reference desk, the children's department, the circulation department, keeping the shelves in order and maintaining Library furnishings and equipment.

"People won't give a library money for staff and sewer bills. If we get less from you, that's why we cut materials," Ms. Thresher said. She pointed out that 83 percent of the Library's municipal budget request goes to personnel — salaries and benefits. "We don't feel we have a choice. If we cut more personnel we won't be able to keep our librarians. For years we have taken out of the hides of the staff, and we're at a point now where we can't keep doing it."

Noting the six percent salary increase projected in the Library budget, Mr. Reed asked Ms. Thresher to consider a five percent increase instead, and if a full-time person is contemplating retirement to replace that person with two part-time people in order to save the health benefits cost.

Ms. Thresher responded that the benefits offered make up for the low salaries, but agreed to consider his suggestion. A memo went out on Monday from the Township administrator on Monday asking all department heads to take another look at their budgets and see where expenses could be pared.

On Saturday, Mark Freda asked that all attendance at out-of-state professional conferences be eliminated as another way of obtaining across-the-board savings. The joint agency budgets that were approved on Saturday included Emergency Management, Local Public Assistance and Small Animal Control.

—Barbara L. Johnson

Borough Budget

"Unless we find a major source of revenue, the only way we can reduce the budget is by reducing major expenditures," said Mr. Reed. About $44,000 in spending must be removed from the budget in order to lower the tax by one cent. Thus, to reduce the tax increase from 20 to 10 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, about $440,000 must be excised from the current budget.

The total amount of the 1990 Borough budget was not available at the meeting. The 1989 budget, however, totalled $10.3 million. Last year's Borough tax rate was 67 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

A current estimate of the 1990 Mercer County tax rate for Borough property owners shows an increase of seven cents over last year's $1.07 per $100 of assessed valuation. School officials estimate the school tax will rise nine cents from last year's figure of $1.47.

A second Council discussion of the budget was scheduled to be held Tuesday evening, February 13, with a third budget meeting planned for Tuesday, February 20, at 6:30.

Flasher

and he continued to face his victim as he fondled himself, Capt. Michaud said. He then ran off west on Hodge Road.

The suspect is described as a white male in his mid-30s with brown curly hair and a light-colored moustache. He was wearing a tweed jacket. According to the victim, there was a strong resemblance to the composite picture of the suspect that police have released to newspapers in the area.

Capt. Michaud said that one detective in the department's bureau is handling the ongoing investigation but he declined to reveal the detective's name. He reiterated his belief that the suspect will be caught. If apprehended, the flasher faces a $1,000 fine or six months in jail, or both, on each offense.

Meanwhile, Lt. Samuel Bianco said this week that Township detectives have uncovered no new information in the assault of a Moore Street resident who was beaten about the head with a hammer last Monday night by a burglar. The victim was treated for several lacerations and contusions at the hospital and released.

Police, Lt. Bianco said, are actively continuing the investigation.
